TURKEY WILL NOT FIGHT NOW

Where Deputy Banister Met His Death

BANISTER DEATH HELD ACCIDENT

Coroner's Jury Reports In Case; Funeral Arrangements Not Complete

A five-man coroner's jury held here that the death of Deputy Sheriff W. Henry Banister, veteran Ouachita parish peace officer, was the result of accidental drowning.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner J. T. French, who stated that a preliminary examination of the body Thursday night showed that the face contained contusions and that several teeth were knocked out.

Funeral services were set tentatively for Saturday. Sheriff Banister's body was removed this morning from the Peters Funeral Home to the residence, 311 Oak street.

The officer's body was discovered in seven feet of water near the door of his automobile, in a borrow pit alongside the Sterlington road one mile from the city limits of Monroe Thursday night.

Ivy Smith, the first witness called at the inquest, said that he passed the scene of the accident about 8:30 p.m. and saw lights on the bayou but paid no attention to the incident because he thought someone was fishing.

G. B. Simms and J. W. Rabb who accompanied State Trooper Pete David to the scene after they had been notified of the accident by an unidentified man, told the jury that after recovering the body they attempted artificial respiration.

The American Legion emergency fire truck and employes of Peters Funeral Home were at the scene Thursday night and aided in attempting to revive Deputy Banister.

Simms and Rabb said that the headlights of the automobile were submerged under about a foot and a half of water but were still burning. The left front door was open and the officer's body was near it. They said they stood in about four feet of water but had to reach out to get hold of the body.

Rabb, Simms and Smith stated that there was no sign of an accident near the scene and ventured the opinion that the car had left the road through some unknown cause.

Deputy Banister narrowly escaped death a little over a year ago when he was critically injured in an automobile accident. At that time he suffered a broken collar bone, severe in-

Fight On Amendments Back In This Sector

Jones Speaks Here Tonight; Former Gov. Long To Talk Saturday

The battle of the amendments shifted to Northeast Louisiana again today.

The opening gun of the debate was fired by Governor Sam Jones who delivered a radio address this morning and will follow that talk with an address at the Ouachita Parish High School Auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Former Governor Earl K. Long will open his two-day tour at Harrisonburg tonight at 7:30, and will come to Monroe following that meeting to spend the night here.

Long will speak in West Monroe at 11 a.m. Saturday, at Ruston at 2 p.m., at Jonesboro at [illegible] p.m., and at Alexandria at 7:30 p.m. His Alexandria address will be carried by a state-wide radio hookup.

The lineup, of course, is Governor Jones "for" and former Governor Long "against."

Governor Jones was introduced by Congressman Newt V. Mills in his radio talk this morning. Mills asked the cooperation of "all the people both with the state and federal governments."

"We should lay aside all hatreds and differences," Mr. Mills said. "I

WAR NEWSMEN WILL GET REST

Associated Press To Rotate Assignments On European Front

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Plans for marked acceleration in the rotation of assignments on the European war fronts have been decided upon by The Associated Press.

These plans call for systematic relief and home leave for the "shock troops" of American journalism who have since the beginning of the conflict been covering the news in foreign countries, as well as to give opportunity for great news adventure through front rank duty for staffmen who are entitled to participate in the present stressful war coverage.

In making known details of staff policy respecting war coverage designed to cope with emergency circumstances General Manager Kent Cooper said today the first steps already had been taken with the departure of two volunteers from the New York staff, Alfred E. Wall and William W. White, now en route to London by way of Lisbon.

These men will make it possible for two London staff men who have been

Who Is U. S. Hero Of Heroes? Commission Denies Opinion

By Franklin Banker

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Who is the nation's hero of heroes?

The Carnegie Hero Fund commission three times each year awards medals to those who have risked or given their lives for others, but it declines to single out any one act as the most heroic. That, the commission says, is "a matter of opinion."

This body, holding a meeting here today to make further selections, has granted 3,155 awards in the past 36 years.

Here's just one amazing example of human courage from the files:

It was at Highlands, N. C., May 14, 1911. R. Augustus Baty, 26, fell from the summit of Whiteside mountain, rolling 150 feet down an almost vertical cliff and lodging against a small bush only two inches from the brink of a 2,000-foot precipice. There he lay, injured and unconscious, one arm and one leg dangling over the top of the precipice—a matter of two inches from eternity.

Charles N. Wright, 38, a merchant, started down the cliff to the rescue, his only handholds and footholds ridges and hollows not more than an inch deep in the stone cliff.

Down, down, he inched his way. A single misstep would have sent him plummeting to the rocks some 2,000 feet below.

His wife, above, saw what he was attempting. She screamed, a wild piercing scream that startled Wright and nearly caused him to lose his grip and nerve.

Another man started to descend but changed his mind and waited in a place of safety while the daring Wright continued.

Many long minutes later Wright reached Baty, and by holding to a bush near the base of the cliff, lifted him up. Once the delirious Baty all but plunged himself and rescuer over the precipice.

By dint of tremendous effort Wright hauled the helpless man to safety up the side of the cliff. The spectacular rescue took two and one-half hours. Baty recovered from his injuries.

For his feat Wright received a gold medal and $2,000. Only 18 other gold medals have been awarded by the Carnegie commission. There have been 553 silver awards and 2,583 of bronze.

The commission has been doing this since 1904, when a $5,000,000 fund was set up for that purpose by Andrew

NATION, BRITISH STUDYING SETUP, INONU DECLARES

President Says Relations With Russia Are Getting Better

ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

Italian News Agency Reports 35-Mile Advance Of Its Troops

(By Associated Press)

Turkey will not enter the Balkan war now, President Ismet Inonu announced today, at the same time countering any threat of Rome-Berlin axis plans by proclaiming that Turko-Russian relations "now have taken a friendly turn."

On the Balkan war front, Stefani, the official Italian news agency, reported a 35-mile Fascist advance into the Ioannina sector of Northwest Greece, along with the capture of 79 Greek villages.

Turkey's president, in a speech to the national assembly at Ankara, said Turkey and her ally, Great Britain, "are studying the situation in the Balkans."

The nation's relations with Soviet Russia, he said, had "gone through a critical period" but now are much improved.

With her reported "2,000,000 bayonets," Turkey has openly defied any axis attempt to use Turkey as a passageway to the Near East but has maintained a hands-off policy under pressure from Russia.

The new "friendly turn" in Soviet-Turkish relations might indicate that Russia has guaranteed support to Turkey in the event of an axis attack on Turkey in return for Turkey keeping out of the Greek-Italian war.

Stefani's report of a 35-mile Italian thrust, which would indicate that the city of Ioannina (Janina) now is under Fascist siege or that Mussolini's invaders are not advancing on the shortest line from the Albanian frontier, conflicted with official Greek reports.

The Greek high command declared today that tank-supported Italian troops in Northwest Greece had been "repulsed everywhere" in the five-day-old Balkan conflict while on the east end of the 100-mile front the Fascist invaders started a major drive toward Salonika.

British RAF bombers attacked southern Italy for the first time, bombing the ancient Tyrrhenian sea-

LAST OF LISTS ROLL OFF PRESS

Draft Lottery Numbers Are Sent To Local Boards For Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The last copies of the selective service lottery "master list" rolled off the presses at the government printing office in the early hours today and were rushed into the mail for the conscription boards in nearby states.

The "master lists" for inland and western states had long since been on their way by train and plane, as selective service headquarters here concentrated on speedy distribution so that local boards would have their lists by the start of next week.

Until the lists are in the hands of the nation's 6,175 local boards, these boards cannot get to work on the mailing of questionnaires and the classification of the first selective service eligibles for a year's military training. The questionnaires will be sent to registrants in the order their numbers were drawn in Tuesday's lottery, and the information developed by the questionnaires is the initial basis for determining whether a registrant will be called for duty or deferred.

Although most of the first selective service quota of 30,000 is expected to be filled by volunteers who prefer to take training immediately instead of waiting for their turns on the draft list, they must go through the questionnaire and classification processes before being accepted for service and inducted into the army.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Final arguments were scheduled today in the murder trial of former Chief State Engineer Harry Jacobs, charged with the July 4 shooting and killing of his wife in their St. Bernard parish mansion.

Jacobs' son, William, 30, who was at the house at the time of the shooting, was called as a state witness yesterday but flatly refused to testify.

STATE TEACHERS MEETING TALKED

Detailed Plans For Convention Here This Month Discussed

Detailed plans for the state teachers convention to be held in Monroe November 17-20 were reviewed by the special convention committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Monroe and West Monroe Thursday.

Dave C. Silverstein, chairman of the merchants division of the chamber, which is sponsoring the sale of advertisements in Louisiana Schools, official publication of the teachers' association, reported a sale of $890 of advertising and expressed appreciation for the fine spirit of cooperation shown by local merchants.

Jack Hayes, chairman of the meetings and meeting places of the convention delegates, presented a list of the various places where sessions are scheduled. Thirteen downtown sites will be used by the delegates in the several divisions, Mr. Hayes stated. The only ones which will be out of the immediate business district will be those Monday and Tuesday night at the Neville High School Auditorium and at Northeast Junior College on another date.

Arrangements are complete for the printing of ballots for the convention ballot, E. C. Apperson, election committee chairman, reported.

All publicity arrangements for the convention have been arranged for by J. C. Liner, KMLB, and George Lofton, News-Star-World, it was announced.

Public address systems will be located at the various meeting places, Ben Parnell, committee chairman, reported.

In commenting on registration, Miss Beverly Russell, office manager of the Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the registration and information, reported that all hotels of Monroe have been filled and approximately 300 homes have made arrangements to take care of the delegates. About 2,000 delegates have already registered for the convention, Miss Russell stated.

A unique feature of the convention arrangements is the placing of direction signs about the city designating the meeting places of the various groups.

Due to the fact that all meetings will be held within a small area, the original plan of issuing courtesy cards has been abandoned, George Holland, chamber secretary, said. It is the opinion of the committee, he said, that the local taxis will be able to handle all the transportation needs of the delegates with the exception of the meetings at Neville High, for which extra buses will be run by the city to take care of this need.

LOWER MERCURY IS SEEN TONIGHT

Rainfall Over An Inch In 24 Hours; Lowest Today Was 56.6

Fair and cooler tonight with continued clear skies tomorrow was the forecast issued for this territory by the United States Weather Bureau at New Orleans.

The lowest temperature this morning was 56.6 degrees, according to records of Civil Aeronautics observers at Selman Field. Rainfall between 6 a.m. Thursday and 6 a.m. today, reports showed, was 1.86 inches, the heaviest in this area in several weeks.

(By Associated Press)

Widespread rainfall brought some relief from drouth conditions over large sections of the country today with indications that cooler weather would follow.

The rain spread eastward from the Mississippi valley to include the Carolinas, northern Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, and other southern states. San Antonio, Tex., reported the heaviest fall, 2.92 inches.

More than an inch was reported in central Missouri and the lower Ohio valley southward.

Some individual recordings included Florence, Ala., 1.97; Greenwood, Miss., 1.80; Shreveport, 1.92; Lake Charles, La., 1.29; Galveston, Tex., 1.84; Nashville, 1.15 and Pensacola, 1.20.

Change to cooler was noted in the Rocky Mountain region, Great Plains states and Mississippi valley, although temperatures in the main remained above freezing. The lowest readings came from the New England states and upper New York. Albany, N. Y., reported 29 degrees, Hartford, Conn., 32; Burlington, Vt., 25; Bangor, Me., 18. Below freezing temperatures were reported in parts of the Dakotas and Nebraska also.

Forecasters said the rain probably would continue throughout most of today in the Georgia and Alabama section.

Amazing Story Of 70 Days At Sea In Open Boat Told

NASSAU, The Bahamas, Nov. 1.—(AP)—After spending 70 days at sea in a tiny open boat, two British seamen have reached the safety of British soil in a voyage rivaling that of Captain William Bligh following the famous mutiny of the Bounty.

The two men, Wilbert Roy Widdicombe, 24, and Robert George Tapscott, 19, were believed to be the only survivors of the 5,596-ton freighter Anglo-Saxon, which was sunk by a Nazi raider about 500 miles southeast of the Azores August 21.

Propped up in bed here, the cheerful Widdicombe, who lost 80 pounds during the amazing 2,500-mile transatlantic voyage, told how seven men hurriedly climbed into the 16-foot open boat when the raider opened fire.

Two of them died of machine gun wounds inflicted by the raider. Two others, crazed by heat and thirst, leaped overboard, another slashed his throat.

"When we took to the boat we had 20 pounds of biscuits, four gallons of water, 11 tins of condensed milk and 16 pounds of tinned beef," Widdicombe said.

"This lasted 15 days. Gradually the other three men started to lose their minds and one night two jumped overboard. The next day the other cut his throat.

"We just sailed and drifted endlessly. We ran into three hurricanes. We had no fishing tackle, but one sail fish and one gar fish washed into the boat and we ate them raw.

"Seaweed was our only food for most of the journey," Widdicombe continued. "Tapscott was sinking fast when we sighted a white beach and ran the boat ashore. Then we staggered and crawled to some trees and fainted.

"The next thing we realized we were surrounded by dark kindly faces but didn't know where we were until we were addressed in English to our unbounded relief."

That was at nearby Eleuthera island. They were brought here by plane Thursday, burned almost black by the sun.

Widdicombe, the stronger of the two when they were found, said they had only rain water to drink most of the voyage, and had no water at all the last eight days.

Bligh's famous voyage after the mutiny in 1789 covered 3,600 miles, but he and his 18 men completed it in 47 days, 23 less than the time Tapscott and Widdicombe took.

ADDITIONAL SUM OF 3 MILLION IS ALLOTTED CAMPS

Brings To $12,000,000 Amount To Be Spent In Alexandria Area

EXPANSIONS PLANNED

Original Contract Price For Work At Each Site Was $4,442,655

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 1.—(AP)—An additional $3,000,000 has been allotted for expansion of Camp Livingston and Camp Claiborne, two huge army camps being constructed near Alexandria, United States Senator John H. Overton today said he had been advised by the war department.

The new allocation will boost the total cost of the two camps to approximately $12,000,000. The original contract price for each camp was $4,442,655.

Senator Overton said the expansions will be made by the contractors who are building the camps now.

Camp Livingston, formerly known as Camp Tioga, is located about 10 miles northeast of Alexandria, and Camp Claiborne, formerly known as Camp Evangeline, is located 14 miles southeast of the city.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The United States army's monthly payroll in the immediate Alexandria territory ultimately will be more than $3,000,000 Major D. R. Nimocs, post finance officer at Camp Beauregard, announced.

The estimate, he said, includes the salaries for enlisted men and officers of three divisions and for approximately 8,000 corps troops which will be stationed at Camp Beauregard.

It does not include the hundreds of thousands of dollars which is being, and will be, spent for salaries in the army's current camp construction program here.

In addition, Major Nimocs said, dis-

U. S. CAMPAIGN IN FINAL DASH

F. D. R. Plans Three Speeches; Willkie Sets His Timetable

(By Associated Press)

Hectic and historic, the 1940 presidential campaign reached its intensive "all out" final stage today with both President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie opening their finish drives for the votes which will tell the story on November 5.

In Washington, President Roosevelt donned his "old campaigner" hat for a tri-state sweep into New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The timetable called for a major speech at Brooklyn tonight, another at Cleveland tomorrow night, and a last talk to the voters from Hyde Park, N. Y., on election eve.

Willkie, concentrating his finish "push" this week in two states which add up to 63 electoral votes, marked one section of New Jersey for his attention today and had a major address down for Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Aides announced that from "somewhere in New Jersey" he planned to reply by radio to Mr. Roosevelt's Boston speech of Wednesday charging Republicans in congress with obstructing both national defense program and efforts to benefit the farmer.

For Mr. Roosevelt, his departure from Washington today held unusual significance. If his present plans carry through and he is not recalled to his desk by some important turn in international affairs, the next time he sees the capital he will be either the victor or the vanquished in a third term fight.

For Willkie, the final drive betokened the approaching end of a strenuous campaign which already has taken him into 29 states and over 18,000 miles.

The United States, he told a Camden, N. J., audience last night, "i

EARTHQUAKE FELT ON PACIFIC COAST

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Los Angeles metropolitan area felt a jolting earthquake at 11:26 o'clock Thursday night (1:26 a.m. Friday (CST). The temblor lasted several seconds and came in a rolling motion. No damage was reported.

In Glendale, sleepers were awakened and windows rattled. Santa Monica residents felt the shock, as did other beach cities in the West Bay area.

The earthquake appeared to be local in origin, however, and was not felt as far north as San Luis Obispo or southward to San Diego.

pledge my wholehearted support to Governor Jones."

At the start of his address, Governor Jones paid high tribute to Mills who, he said, "is working hand and hand with my administration and with the federal administration."

"Newt Mills is an independent; he wears no man's collar," the governor declared, "and I welcome his cooperation. Together we are toiling to alleviate the suffering of the distressed people of Northeast Louisiana. These people need the assistance the amendments will provide."

Governor Jones said "the highway funds would be cut off, and the relief money would be cut off" if the amendments were defeated.

He said his administration has materially reduced costs of the dock board, the highway department and the conservation department and added that the savings thus obtained had gone for an increase in relief funds, old age pensions and school funds.

"The schools of the state have been given an increase of $1 per educable more than at any time in the history of the state. We have added more than a million dollars for old age pensions and we hope to reach the $30 per month which is our objective."

Governor Jones said $50,000,000 of new industries already is under construction as a result of the tax-free program.

The governor explained that the effect of the much-discussed reorganization bill will be merely to reduce the number of departments and bureaus of the state government.

Governor Jones did not announce his itinerary following his address here tonight.

port of Naples near the "ankle" of the Italian boot.

The Naples attack, striking at oil tanks and other military objectives in the Naples area where great blast furnaces and steel mills are located, followed a rising clamor in the British press for stronger blows against Italy.

"Italy is the weakest link in the axis," said the London News Chronicle. "Smash it, and more than half the battle is won."

Similarly, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express declared:

"Living women and children matter more to us than the antiquities of Rome. If bombing Rome is to mean an earlier victory for the Greeks and ourselves, we should begin it tomorrow and continue it until the Italians see sense."

Premier Mussolini's high command said the raid on Naples cost one killed, five wounded.

Belgrade dispatches said the Italians were hammering at Greek positions in Pisoderia pass, at the northeast end of the Albanian frontier.

The Fascist columns, supported by heavy artillery and warplanes, apparently had as their first objective the Greek city of Phlorina, 30 miles distant, and then to the key Aegean port of Salonika which might be used as the base for a drive to the Turkish Dardanelles.

Greek mountain gunners, posted in sniping stations blasted out of solid rock, were reported spraying the Italian troops with a murderous point-blank fire as they attempted to advance along narrow mountain roads.

Unconfirmed Greek reports circulated in Belgrade that British warplanes, accompanied by a few of Greece's tiny air force, had bombed Tirana, capital of the Italian "puppet state" of Albania, and other Albanian cities.

Other British aid to the little Balkan kingdom was evident, however. The British fleet was said to have completed sowing a network of mines around Salonika and other Grecian harbors, and a steady stream of British supply ships and transports was reported steaming under convoy across the Mediterranean.

For the third successive day, the Italian high command issued only the tersest communique on the battle with Greece, giving the following 23-word description:

"Operations in Epirus (northwest Greece) are proceeding regularly. Our forces reached a crossroads at Kalibaki. Work of repairing interruptions caused by the retreating enemy continues."

This was about one-sixth of the high command's daily communique, with the rest devoted to North Africa and Naples.

Reports of increasing German military activity in Rumania stirred anxiety in Bulgaria that Adolf Hitler might be planning a thrust at eastern Greece from Rumania bases despite expressions of confidence in Berlin that the Italian-Greek conflict would be "localized."

German troops would have to pass through Bulgaria to reach Greece from Rumania. The Bulgarian government discounted rumors that such a move was likely "within 10 days" but the rumors persisted.

Bulgaria herself maintained a strictly hands-off policy, refraining even from taking advantage of Greece's plight by pressing long-standing territorial claims against her neighbor.

The Greek high command said Italian infantry attacks, supported by tanks, had been repulsed yesterday everywhere along the Albanian frontier and reported that Greek war vessels had shelled the Italian lines.

Italian war correspondents said Fascist troops had penetrated Greece from the sea as well as from Albania, but did not elaborate.

Aristides Demetratos, general secretary of the Greek National Labor confederation, appealed to workers throughout the world to come to his country's aid by boycotting Italian goods and demanding a ban on exports to Italy.

The aerial war between Britain and Germany, meanwhile, continued at a diminished pace. Bad weather helped reduce the Nazi air attacks on Britain during the night and London experienced one of its quietest nights since the dusk-to-dawn raids began 55 days ago.

British sources speculated on the possibility that the lessened attacks might indicate that many German pilots had been dispatched to the southeast and that Italian fliers sent to replace them have yet to get their bearings.

Some bomb were dropped by the Germans last night in East Anglia, the Midlands and along the northeast coast of Scotland, but the British government said damage and casualties were light.

There were no reports of British air activity over Germany during the night.

Officials were inclined to think a love of hunting was an insufficient excuse for deferment.

GROUP DECLINES HERO DECISION

Carnegie, the Scottish-born steelmaker who felt that mankind applauds deeds of sacrifice but forgets to care for those who perform them.

More than 35,000 applications have been passed over after careful consideration.

Through the years the largest monetary award to an individual, $6,500, and a gold medal went to Mark Casto, master of the fishing schooner Alberta, for his rescue of 52 persons from the stranded steamer Cherokee off Atlantic City, N. J., January 14, 1906.

There have been many thrilling rescues from drowning, water accidents being the most common Carnegie cases. Second in number to those are train rescues—persons being knocked out of the paths of approaching trains just in the nick of time. Fire, flood and mine disasters are far fewer.

The old movie thrillers used to depict an engineer climbing out a window of his speeding locomotive to reach down from the cowcatcher and whisk up to safety a child playing on the railroad tracks. That story was drawn from the annals of truth, not fiction. Such a rescue has occurred no less than three times in Carnegie hero history.

One man won a silver medal for saving William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York in 1910, from a would-be assassin. Gaynor was shot once in the head before William H. Edwards threw himself on the assailant. Edwards was shot in the struggle, but he and the mayor recovered.

Rescues from the paths of runaway horses were an ordinary affair in the pre-automobile era.

Odd rescues include a farmer using a pen knife to defend a man from goring by an enraged bull. A woman won a silver medal by sucking venom from a rattlesnake bite on the arm of a youth. A man received a bronze decoration for helping subdue a jail-break.

Nine special awards have been made on the heels of disasters, largely floods and mine accidents. The biggest, $54,000, went to sufferers of the California earthquake and San Francisco fire in 1906.

WAR NEWSMEN WILL GET REST

covering the "battle of Britain," ringside, to return to the United States for rest and the comparative tranquility of assignments in the domestic service.

From the large number of staff men who have expressed their desire to "get a crack at the big story," others will be selected as conditions permit, Mr. Cooper said, for relief assignments in London, as well as in Berlin and other war areas.

"Primarily, the purpose is to afford a change from hazardous assignments for the men who have shown their courageous devotion to duty under fire and, by their esprit de corps, given inspiration to the entire Associated Press staff," Mr. Cooper declared.

"They have not themselves asked for this relief. In fact, I have found those for whom it has been arranged reluctant to leave the big story, wherever it has happened to be, unless they could have assurances of opportunity to return after resting. That opportunity will be theirs.

"At the same time, there are many of the staff at home eager and ready to undertake war assignments. Approximately half the Americans now on the European staff have gone abroad since the war broke out 14 months ago. Recognizing and appreciating the spirit thus manifested, the management purposes to provide additional opportunities for war assignments on a limited duration basis, maintaining a balance of experienced and fresh viewpoint by systematic rotation."

Priority for home leave, so far as possible, will go to the men who have been the longest on continuous duty on the more hazardous assignments.

The London staff, for example, for which relief arrangements have been initiated is under the direction of Milo M. Thompson. Thompson, native of Illinois and formerly head of the Washington bureau, went abroad two years ago as chief executive for Europe, reorganizing and expanding the staff that has given such a brilliant account of itself on all fronts.

Three members of the London corps, Taylor Henry, a West Pointer from Texas, William McGaffin, a Nebraska product, and William J. Humphreys, assigned abroad from the New York cable desk, are survivors of the "battle for France." Dwight Pitkin, a native of Illinois, saw service in the Spanish civil war.

Hugh Wagnon, former chief of bureau at Baltimore, and Tom Yarbrough, product of the Kansas City office, are native Oklahomans. Drew Middleton got into the foreign service by way of Syracuse University, Poughkeepsie, and the New York sports desk.

Robert Bunnelle, an Ohioan by birth, left the Atlanta bureau for duty abroad. Edwin Stout, an Iowan, was a cable desk veteran before going to London. J. Norman Lodge, the "old sarge," fought with the A. E. F. in the first World war and experienced spectacular adventures in Norway before dodging bombs in Dublin and London.

U. S. CAMPAIGN IN FINAL DASH

sick and tired of the type of government that treats our constitution like a scrap of paper" and regards the supreme court as an "obstruction."

He attacked his Democratic opponent on the third term question asserting "our unwritten law against granting a third term to any president is not even mentioned by the third term candidate. He doesn't even attempt to justify his violation of it." He used the expression "one man government" to describe the administration.

Mr. Roosevelt was at his White House desk most of yesterday, but in the late afternoon he delivered an address, considered non-political by White House aides, at the dedication of the newly completed National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md., just across the District of Columbia line.

In this brief speech he asserted that "neither the American people nor their government intend to socialize medical practice any more than they plan to socialize industry."

Herbert Hoover spoke last night at Lincoln, Neb., charging Mr. Roosevelt with "sticking pins in tigers all over the world."

The former president told his listeners, "You are far more likely to get into war with Franklin Roosevelt than with Wendell Willkie."

Hoover charged that the president had broken up the 1933 world economic conference at London, had failed to press for advantages that might have come from the 1932 disarmament conference at Geneva, and had meddled in European power politics.

At New York, meanwhile, Henry A. Wallace, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, described as "desperate" Willkie's assertion that if Mr. Roosevelt were reelected, on the basis of his "past performances and promises" the country might expect war by next April.

Wallace said the Willkie charge was "another last minute scheme to snare votes by a party so desperate that it will stoop to anything to stave off defeat."

Wallace said that "Hitler wants a Republican victory this year."

Among other speeches and campaign statements last night:

Boston—Alfred E. Smith, 1928 Democratic presidential nominee, in an appeal for support for Willkie said that President Roosevelt's Boston speech was "a perfect smokescreen intended to blot out the New Deal's failures in handling domestic affairs."

Cohoes, N. Y.—Attorney General Jackson said that Willkie's "one and only qualification for the presidency is that he is a lawyer—a Wall Street lawyer."

Caldwell, Idaho—Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, asked the Pacific Northwest to demonstrate that it is not "in the bag" for the Democratic party. He recalled that Mr. Roosevelt had not visited the Northwest and added: "He thinks you are 'in the bag.'"

Charleston, W. Va.—Van A. Bittner, one of John L. Lewis' chief lieutenants in the C. I. O., urged reelection of Mr. Roosevelt as a "man of peace" and a friend of labor. Bittner made no mention of Lewis' support of Willkie.

Sioux City, Ia.—Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee, said that "the amazing and terrifying fact" was that during a six months' period in 1917 the nation armed "twenty-eight times faster than we are in 1940."

"The same mistake of mixing reform and politics that bogged down recovery is bogging down the defense program," he said.

Washington—Stewart McDonald, federal housing administrator, said that "Mr. Willkie charges confusion in the government's housing program. The only confusion I know of is in his own mind. We have brought order out of chaos."

New York—Samuel Seabury, one-time Democratic candidate for governor of New York, declared that the election of Mr. Roosevelt for a third term would mean "that the nation will go through the open door of national state socialism."

Washington—Robert P. Patterson, assistant secretary of war, said that "It has been charged that the present administration cannot get the thorough and cordial cooperation of industry." He asserted that "Any such charge is a gross injustice to American industry and it is squarely contradicted by what industry has already done and is going forward to do in furtherance of the defense program."

St. Louis—Mayor LaGuardia of New York termed "unjustified and unpatriotic" Willkie's statement on the possibility of war if Mr. Roosevelt is reelected.

Washington—The National Lawyers' Guild, in a statement issued by Robert W. Kenny, president, and Martin Popper, secretary, replied to what it termed "Mr. Willkie's attempt to make political capital by attacking" the guild and termed Willkie's statements "ill-advised" and "resting on gross misstatements of fact."

The statement said the guild was a nationwide "nonpartisan organization of lawyers devoted to the protection and fostering of our democratic institutions and civil rights and liberties of all the people and to the promotion of justice in the administration of law."

ADDITIONAL SUM ALLOTTED CAMPS

bursements through his office are expected to total $1,000,000 per month.

The estimate on the payroll was made as Major Nimocs revealed that guardsmen in training here will receive their first payroll next week and that privates who have been members of the guard for as long as four months will begin drawing $30 per month immediately.

Thirty-second division national guardsmen, from Michigan and Wisconsin, in training for a year at Camp Beauregard, rejoiced upon learning they won't have to wait four months before their monthly pay checks are boosted from $21 to $30.

One of the heaviest rains to fall in central Louisiana in several months failed to dampen the spirits of the guardsmen Thursday as this news spread up and down the long rows of tents where the troops are quartered.

Major Nimocs said he had received a radiogram from Fourth Corps area headquarters, advising him that the comptroller general of the United States has ruled that national guardsmen who had been in the guard for four months or longer before they were called into training are eligible to receive pay on a basis of $30 per month beginning with their first pay check. The raise applies only to buck privates.

Previous announcements by the war department have been interpreted as meaning that all guardsmen who are privates must wait four months for the $9 increase. The new ruling means that only men who are conscripted and those who have been affiliated with the army or National Guard for less than four months will draw $21 to start.

The ruling will cause a payroll revision at Camp Beauregard which will delay the guardsmen's pay day, originally scheduled for Saturday, to Tuesday, Major Nimocs said.

On the basis of its present strength of [illegible] enlisted men and [illegible] officers, the 32nd division will receive approximately [illegible] per month. This amount, he said, will be boosted to [illegible] or more when the division's strength is built to [illegible] with the addition of [illegible]. The full-strength division will have [illegible] officers.

The division's first payroll next Tuesday will be approximately [illegible] as the men have been in training [illegible]. Major Nimocs said the job of paying the men would [illegible].

Announcement of the pay increase, Major Nimocs said, came through the Washington office of Major General H. K. Loughry, chief of finance.

Lieutenant Colonel Roy E. Cotton of Lansing, Mich., is finance officer of the 32nd division. At the present time the payrolls of both the 32nd division troops and the special fifth tactical corps troops stationed at Camp Beauregard are being handled in Major Nimocs' office. When the 32nd division moves to its new home, Camp Livingston, after the first of the year, its payroll will be handled through Colonel Cotton's office at the new camp. Approximately 5,000 men are engaged in constructing the $4,442,655 camp now. It will be located a short distance north of Camp Beauregard and about 10 miles from Alexandria.

The estimate of $3,000,000 monthly payroll for army men in the Alexandria territory includes the payrolls which will go to the 34th division, for which a camp similar to Camp Livingston is now being constructed 14 miles south of the city and to an as yet unnamed armored division which will be encamped near Leesville about 60 miles west of here.

Only one camp of regular army men—a military police unit of the eighth infantry—is stationed at Beauregard now.

The men and the corps officers at the camp received a payroll of $15,000 Thursday. This amount will be boosted to about $360,000 when the troops are increased to 8,000.

The $9 raise for privates will have the effect of boosting the 32nd division's payroll between $50,000 and $60,000 per month, on the basis of its present strength.

SAY ENGINEMAN CAUSED WRECK

Allegedly Failed To Heed Stop Signal; 75 Hurt In Crash

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1—(AP)—An engineman's alleged failure to heed a stop signal was blamed by a Reading Railroad official today for the collision of a suburban electric train and a steam-drawn express in which more than 75 persons were injured.

The six-car electric train, crowded with home-bound commuters at the peak of the evening rush hour, crashed into the rear of the express late Thursday on a bridge in North Philadelphia.

R. W. Brown, vice-president of the Reading, placed responsibility on the engineman of the electric train, Ira Showers, who was critically hurt.

Brown said in a statement the express had stopped to permit another passenger train to go by, and added that "the engineer of the electric train operated his train at a high rate of speed contrary to rules and disregarded the stop signal given by the flagman protecting the rear of the express train which was struck."

The War Spreads

Like an ugly ink blot, the European war has spread in a little more than a year across the whole map of a continent.

It is hard to realize now that all this started over a border dispute over Danzig and the Polish corridor, just as the World War started in a dispute over responsibility for the murder of an archduke.

The dispute over Danzig might have been settled across the table, given the slightest good will, the slightest desire to settle it. But already whatever good will was left had been dissipated by the futile Munich effort at appeasement, the mounting evidence that Nazi Germany was not to be satisfied by mere amicable adjustments of borders.

And because there was not enough statesmanship, enough good will in all Europe to compromise a matter of access to the Baltic sea, the conflagration started which now spreads across all Europe.

More even than in 1914, the world is interdependent. And even then a dispute between Austria and Serbia eventually dragged a world to war. Today—

Within two days after the Danzig failure, Britain and France entered the war. Within two weeks, Russia was plunging into Poland for its share of the swag, and within two months it was invading Finland. Within seven months Denmark and Norway were gratuitously mowed down, protesting their neutrality as they fell. Within nine months Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg followed. Before a year was out, Italy plunged in. The tenth month saw Russia partitioning Rumania, and Egypt was invaded just after the first year closed. With the fourteenth month Greece is likewise engulfed.

What is significant is this: of all these countries not more than one or two wanted war. Yet war was thrust upon them all.

Once war on this scale is unleashed, those fighting have only one objective—to win. Thus Greece, whose dictatorship under Metaxas was scarcely less oppressive than those of Germany or Russia, is welcomed as an ally of democratic England, just as the democracies welcomed autocratic Russia in 1914. Dictator Mussolini does not hesitate to try to crush Dictator Metaxas.

Behind the fine-sliced bologna about ideology lies the naked struggle for power, for survival.

A Royal Zombie

All will remember that shuddery West Indian legend of the zombie—the dead charmed into a burden-bearing semblance of life without the consciousness that is life's essence.

We thought of it with a shudder the other day when a short dispatch described silent "King" Leopold of the Belgians, walking through the grounds of the Laeken Palace in Brussels, head bowed, like a man in a trance.

Here he lives, this man who once headed a proud and independent people, conferring daily with German generals and Belgian "officials"—a king without power, a sovereign without sovereignty, a man without a country. Not yet do we know enough for a historical verdict on his surrender—all we can do is mutely watch him pace the grounds of his palace prison, a royal zombie. In a Europe so overflowing with tragedy, he is only an episode, a fragment, a walking sigh.

The Real Melting Pot

Visitors to Hawaii are always impressed, sometimes concerned, by the racial pot-pourri they find there. Whatever aspect the United States proper still retains as a racial melting pot is far overshadowed by that which is simmering in the islands.

Consider a recent primary election after which the following extended public thanks to the voters for victory: Steere G. Noda, Clement T. Moriyama, Sam Ichinose, F. Lang Akana (who sound very Japanese indeed), Yew Char and Philip N. Sing (no more Chinese than Chiang Kai-shek), David L. Conkling, Hebden Porteus and James G. Needles (breath of England), Oliver Kinney and James M. (Tramp) O'Dowda (son of Ireland), Edwin P. Murray (touch o' Scotch Heather), M. C. Pacheco (dash of Spanish).

Best assurance of the advancing Americanization of all came in Mr. Sing's advertisement, which he headed up "Thanks a Million."

A Contrast

With all partisan hands hustling to get out the maximum vote on November 5, a record-breaking total of nearly 50,000,000 ballots may be cast. But there is one part of the nation that this interest in a prime requisite of citizenry will scarcely touch. That is the Solid South.

Gripped in the tradition of the one-party system for almost a century, the Solid South has engendered so low a citizen feeling of responsibility in popular governmental processes and has set up such taboos that the privilege of voting is exercised only perfunctorily.

Kansas, with an estimated voting strength of 1,204,000, is expected to cast about 900,000 ballots. Approximately 80 per cent of citizens will vote. In Mississippi 1,160,000 people have the constitutional qualifications for voting, but only 178,000 are expected to appear at the polls. That is about 15 per cent. This proportion is borne out in most of the states of the old South.

Aristotle warned democracies against long tenure of office-holders. If the Greeks had a word for third termers it would have sounded something like "scram!"

In deciding against extending civil service to 200,000 federal employes, Congress may have had in mind leaving them in a status where they could be fired later on.

A general warns the draftees not to expect to be pampered. Certainly the top sarge won't read any bedtime stories to his flock.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

LUKE TWITCHELL ON HIS DRAFT REGISTRATION

"Well, I go down and register. I am now on the waiting list and every time my phone rings I think maybe it is a call to see if I am healthy, single and of no special help to relatives," said Luke Twitchell, Elmer's young brother, resignedly. "Okay, and no complaints by me, but I don't feel no glow.

"I think I am going to feel noble and all that, but after I have registered I feel the same as before. It was the same as if I was lining up to vote, get a free turkey or see a Chaplin movie. What I mean, I ain't hot. At no time do I feel like Paul Revere, Sergeant York, the Drummer Boy of Shiloh or Dorothy Thompson.

"Now I ain't got no dope and I know this is a patriotic duty, a fine symbol of democracy and all strictly on the up and up, and when war comes I will get in there and do my bit for the old Red, White and Blue, but why don't I get no glow? Why do I feel more like Gus P. Doakes than Nathan Hale? Why do I feel more like a four-minute egg than a minute man? Why do I feel more like the Headache of 1940 than the Spirit of '76, what I mean?"

Luke was bothered. "Well," he resumed, "I guess it is just because this war is such a mess and the whole world is in such a cockeyed condition. A paper hanger makes a crazy quilt of Europe, a bald-headed fat guy with a newsreel complex jumps in as an accomplice, the Japs, with a war on their hands already, decide to look for more trouble, Russia acts like she was getting an audition for 'Hellzapoppin,' and armies everywhere lay off fighting armies and concentrate on fighting the civilians! What I mean, is it any wonder a guy registering for a possible part in this mess don't get no kick out of it at this time, what I mean?

"And maybe why I don't get no glow is on account of the bungling by the democratic countries, which goes for Yankee Doodle, too. He makes the first airplane, he shows the world how to make the best ones, and in an emergency he ain't got enough planes to protect himself! He spends himself blue in the face saving democracy and when trouble comes he finds he ain't got the things he ought to have to save democracy.

"Uncle Sam comes face to face with a situation where he needs a burglar alarm, a steel helmet and a gun, and all he has is a sedan, an electric ice-box, a de luxe radio, a map showing the best picnic parks, six booklets on ideal week-end motor tours and a new economic order! What I mean, it makes me kind of sick.

"And on top of it all I register for conscription in the middle of a political campaign in which both sides say the other will make the country a pushover for a low puncher, and a lot of people demonstrate their democracy by throwing tomatoes! It has me a little muddled. As I said before, I am no squawker against conscription and I think it strictly okay. But with things like they are, am I subnormal if I don't feel like no Green Mountain boy, what I mean?"

ACTION BRINGS HEALTH TO YOUTH

The best tonic for the mentally depressed young person is the right kind of activity. Right doing induces right thinking and every good thought adds health to the mind.

I make a point of this because so many people think that mental ill health needs some radical treatment beyond the reach of ordinary folk. Mental illness needs expert attention, but the moods of adolescents, their gloomy outlook, their strange behavior can often be set right by a wholesome routine of occupation and allied responsibility.

There are many young people who do not have enough of the right sort of exercise to keep them healthy in mind or body. The right kind of exercise—I mean active exercise—calls for coordinated purposeful action. Whenever that is produced by the young person healthy reactions set in and his whole being responds in healthier fashion.

The depressed adolescent needs activity. He ought to be doing actual work, useful and necessary work. But because of our way of life today he is deprived of that outlet, that tonic opportunity for growth. Home provides little space for such work and little need. Society has decreed that youth be prolonged beyond its normal span of helplessness. The adolescent boy and girl of today have to search hard to find a useful and permitted job, and not finding it many of them are mentally depressed and mentally unhealthy.

Talking to them is useless. What they are suffering from and what will cure them, is useful work. Instead of keeping them idle they need to be put to work, and we need to set them to working. Whatever is in the way should be removed.

No sensible person would wish to do away with the protection the labor laws have thrown about our children, but it is not sensible nor safe to rear a generation in idleness. Every young person ought to be initiated into some field of work. This ought to begin in school. A school that offers its pupils nothing but book study is not a school to meet your needs. The real school offers its pupils experiences in work, actual experiences over a period long enough to set the child in an understanding of its values and its implications, and to allow him to establish its rhythm and technique in his habits.

Right habits come from right action, and right action calls for right thinking. This leads to good mental and physical health.

We are not training a generation of doers. We are teaching our young people to accept service and not to give it. We are teaching them to be helpless. We are, by our neglect of our youth, endangering the mental health of a generation. We are destroying character that might well have been sturdy and fine by hobbling our children.

When I say children I mean the younger generation up to the age of fourteen. From fourteen to eighteen they are our body of youth. After that I would be inclined to term them adult and a bit beyond help of others. They should by then be self-helpful, and they would be if we trained them early enough.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of the Monroe News-Star, Postoffice Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y., enclosing a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

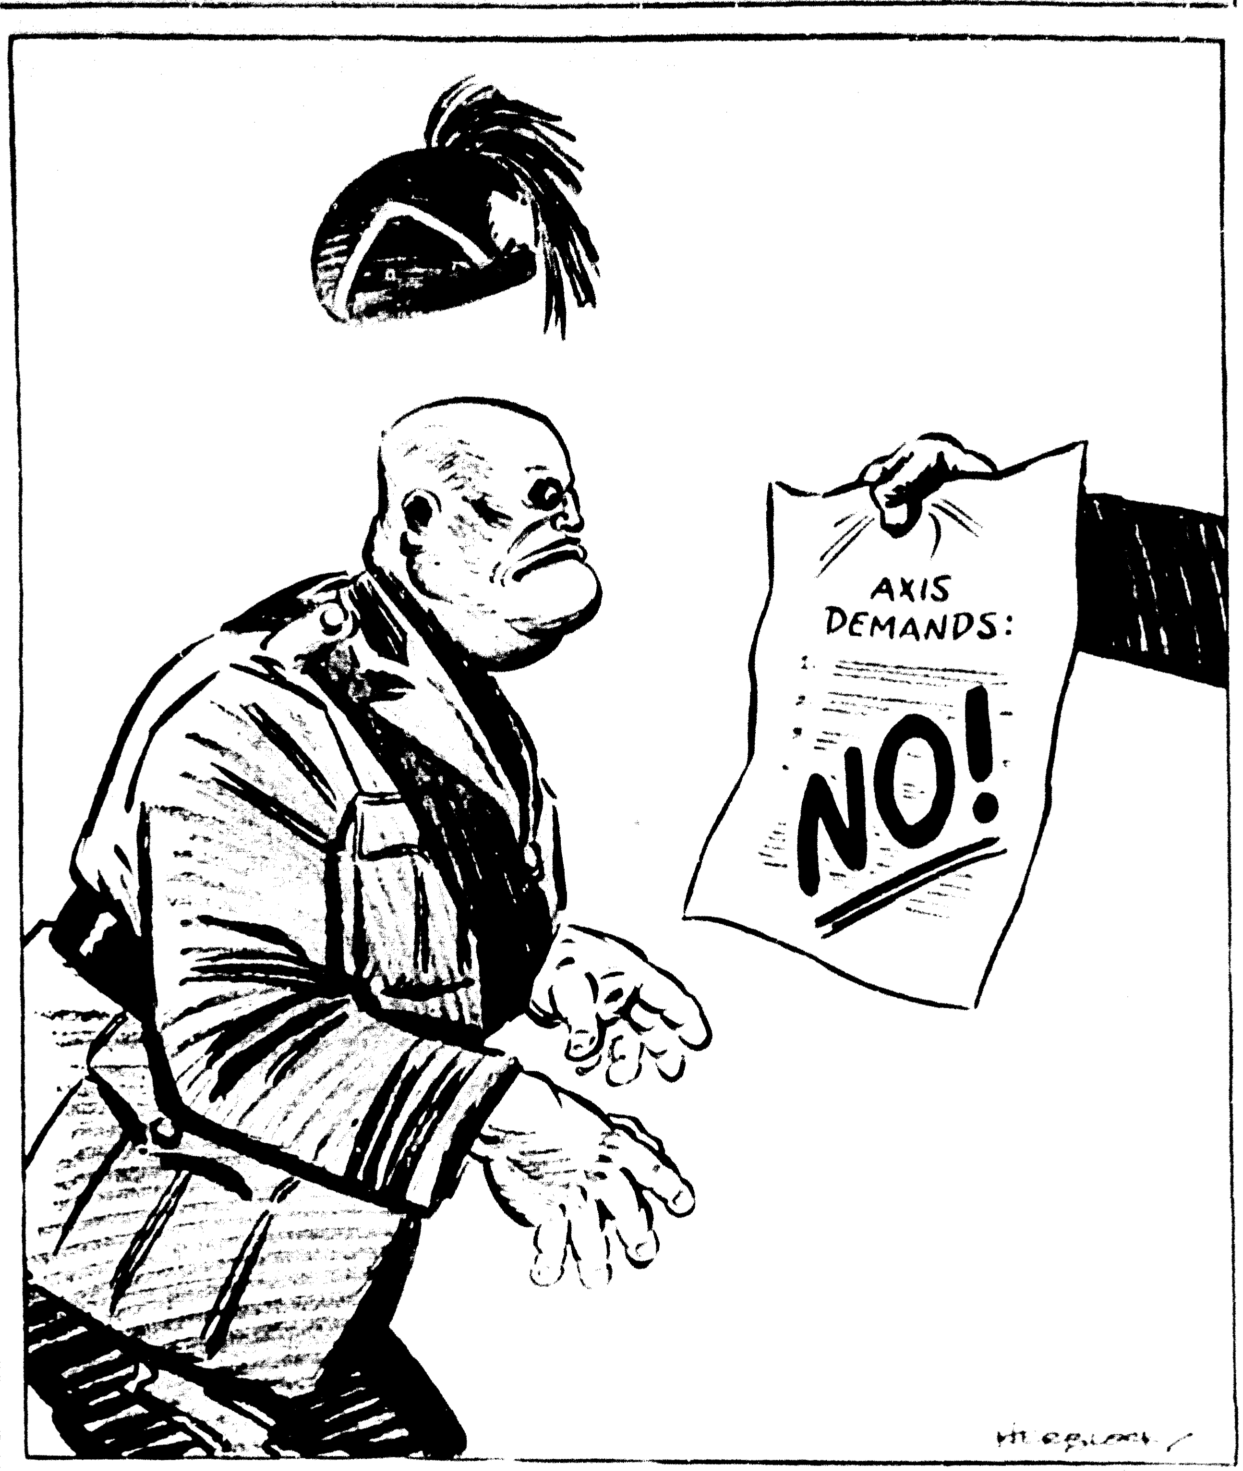
THE GREEKS HAD A WORD FOR IT



Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—[illegible] little election-time politics [illegible] some observers here [illegible] are real straws that I see in the wind [illegible] certain politicians are in for [illegible] of trouble after November 5.

Why after November 5? That [illegible] good Republican question [illegible] quarters, but the [illegible] is that, except for the [illegible] in recent months, there have been [illegible] elections to investigate [illegible] it would have been [illegible] to complete [illegible] dictments before election.

Even if they could have [illegible] cases ready, no [illegible] moved fast enough [illegible] pose the persons charged [illegible] cent. Think what [illegible] been done then to persons [illegible] the party ticket of those [illegible] been charged.

Committees Busy

That's the explanation given, but to get back to those straws:

1. A senate campaign investigating subcommittee with Senator Adams, Democrat, Colorado, as chairman, heard testimony in Jersey City, N. J., where Mayor Hague's [illegible] political machine has been on the griddle for years.

2. Another senate subcommittee with Senator Hill, Democrat, Alabama, as chairman, heard testimony in Chicago, where the Kelly-Nash machine captained by Mayor Edward J. Kelly has also been under a crossfire of charges from big political guns.

3. Numerous complaints of violations of the Hatch act [illegible] Practices act and civil [illegible] have been filed with the department of justice. These are purported to [illegible] the whole gamut of election and campaign violations from minor infringements [illegible] federal employes losing their jobs [illegible] right stealing of elections [illegible] that could send offenders to the penitentiary.

4. Attorney General Robert H. Jackson has publicly declared an out-in-the-open war on election frauds and all violations of the voting and campaign statutes now on the books and backed it up by appointing Maurice M. Milligan, United States district attorney at Kansas City, Mo., [illegible] general for the drive. Milligan is the 58-year-old attorney who prosecuted Tom Pendergast and sent that longtime boss of Kansas City politics to the penitentiary. Sixty-three other defendants who stood trial were convicted; 36 others pleaded guilty and 169 threw themselves on the mercy of the court.

Call It Window-Dressing

Some administration critics say [illegible] is just pre-election window-dressing [illegible] front to offset charges that machine politics really aren't frowned upon. I wouldn't know about that, but it seems fairly a fair guess that even if the tempest is started in the political teapot, it has a chance of getting out of hand and becoming a good stiff blow, if not a tornado.

In the first place, on the senate committees both the Republican and Democratic parties are represented. If charges against the persons investigated are substantiated, they're not both going to sit quietly by and let the breeze die down.

In the second, if those complaints filed with the department of justice are verified, they are matters for the courts, and the federal courts don't hold their sessions and deliver their verdicts behind closed doors.

In the third, Mr. Milligan has tasted blood, is ambitious (he ran for the senate but was defeated for the nomination by the incumbent, Senator Truman, in a stiff three-cornered battle), and is considered by friends not to be the kind who would take his appointment lightly.

MILITARY FUNERAL GIVEN LITTLE DOG

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Nov. 1—(P)—Members of Company A, 145th infantry, a Cleveland, O., unit of the national guard, took time off from training to hold funeral services for Tomah, their little fox terrier mascot.

The dog, named after Tomah, Wis., where the soldiers trained last summer, had to be killed because of an incurable ailment.

She had been a favorite in camp, leaping and barking when the men came in from drill.

Tomah was buried while the boys knelt around her grave. An honor guard, with rifles, stood at attention.

LITERATURE FACING BONFIRE ON NOV. 6

SALINA, Kas., Nov. 1—(P)—All political literature in Salina will be burned in a public bonfire November 6, the night after the election, as a gesture toward national unity.

Ed Laubengayer, president of the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce, explained:

"The president, whether a Republican or a Democrat, will need the united support of the nation. The country cannot present a united front to dictators if it is torn by political bickering."

SONG WILL GET FURTHER VERSES

More Promised As Mississippi Bad Man Is On Loose From Pen

PARCHMAN, Miss., Nov. 1—(AP)—There will have to be some new verses to "the Kenny Wagner song."

The bad man about whom they sing in the cotton fields and around the plantation cabins in Mississippi is out again, his trail lost.

Kinnie Wagner—the ballads call him "Kenny"—escaped from the Parchman prison farm after 14 years of imprisonment.

Officers in Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee, states in which he has been charged with a total of five slayings, took up the alarm but declared today they had no clues.

Wagner, now 37, was a 'trusty,' serving a life term for the killing of Sheriff Murdock McIntosh who sought to arrest him in Greene county on Christmas eve, 1924.

In November, 1924, he was arrested for larceny and jailed at Lucedale, but escaped within a few days after slugging a guard.

McIntosh led a posse that cornered Wagner in a shack near a sawmill, but the desperado escaped after sending a volley from two automatics into the officer's body. At his trial he claimed self-defense.

One of the ballads about the bandit, widely sung in Mississippi, relates:

"It was down in Mississippi, where
I murdered my first man,
"When the sheriff there as Leaksville for justice took his stand."

Wagner fled to Tennessee. Patrolman John Smith of Kingsport and Deputy Sheriff Hubert Webb of Sullivan county were slain when they investigated a disturbance. Wagner was charged with the killings.

Then goes the ballad:

"Then I went from Mississippi to the state of Tennessee,
"Two men went down before me ere they took my liberty."

Tried, convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted, Wagner won a new trial and then escaped from jail in Knoxville.

Months later he surrendered to Mrs. Lillie Barbery, woman sheriff of Texarkana, Ark., telling her he had shot three men in a drinking bout near the town. The sheriff investigated and found William and Samuel Carper dead and their brother, Robert, wounded seriously.

The ballad continues:

"Then I wandered through the country, but I never could find rest,
"Till I went to Texarkana, away out in the west,
"Aagain I started drinking and again
I pulled my gun,
"And within a single moment the deadly thing was done,
"The sheriff was a woman, but she got the drop on me,
"I quit the game and surrendered,
gave up my liberty."

Arkansas surrendered Wagner to trial in Mississippi and in 1926 he was convicted of slaying McIntosh.

NEGRO CAUGHT HERE SENT BACK TO PEN

West Monroe Chief of Police Jeff Caldwell announced Thursday that Bennie Tener, negro, had been returned to the North Carolina state penitentiary from which he escaped last August.

The negro was picked up October 23 by West Monroe police and booked at headquarters on a vagrancy charge, Chief Caldwell said. The negro, police added, resisted fingerprinting.

Two days later, Baton Rouge state police notified Chief Caldwell that Tener was an escaped convict who had one a half more years to serve in the North Carolina state pen.

Officer W. S. [illegible] of the state penitentiary made the trip to West Monroe and returned Tuesday to North Carolina with the prisoner, Chief Caldwell said.

YOUNG SISTERS NEAR BIRTHDAY

Badgett Quadruplets Are Being Reared In Simple Fashion

By William T. Rives

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 1—(AP)—The Badgett quadruplets—as coy a batch of girls as ever smashed a toy—are nearing their second birthday in perfect trim, despite the absence of any unusual precautions to safeguard their health.

The Badgetts—Joan, Joyce, Jeraldine and Jeanette—are being reared in simple fashion. That's the way Mrs. W. Ellis Badgett, 38-year-old mother of America's youngest quads, wants it.

"Those children are going to grow up just like any others," she says firmly.

The blond girls, born February 1, 1939, are housed in one light, airy room of the Badgetts' modest bungalow. Their four trundle beds take up most of the room's space.

There is no nurse, no governess for the children—Mrs. Badgett takes care of them herself.

"And that is a full-time job; trying to look after four wild little girls keeps me on the jump.

"They are rough, sometimes they get into fights. I can't let them have toys very much; they'll hit each other with them."

Joan is the heavyweight of the quartet and occasionally takes advantage of her bulk, bullying the others about. She tips the scales at 29 pounds; the others weigh in the neighborhood of [illegible].

Mother Badgett classifies the girls thus:

Jeraldine learns quicker than the others.

Joan is the [illegible]. She loves to look at the comic sections of the newspaper, but often does so with a [illegible] expression.

Jeanette is the "fighter." She [illegible] and pulls hair around, starts lots of fights, and generally stirs up things.

Joyce is the quietest.

The girls' physical and mental development has been so swift that Mrs. Badgett doubts she will enter them in [illegible].

"They are growing up. You know, they are nearly two," she laughs.

[illegible] Mrs. J. L. Jones of Odessa, Tex., gave birth to a girl.

Mrs. Jones is Mrs. Badgett's daughter by a former marriage.

The city of Galveston, in an effort to repay the Badgetts for the publicity they have brought the island, [illegible] $1,500 for the purchase [illegible] for the quadruplets.

[illegible]

Papa Badgett [illegible] from Bay City, Tex. [illegible]

[illegible]

"The only time they get outside the [illegible]," Mrs. Badgett [illegible] automobile [illegible].

"But I can't do that very often [illegible]."

The [illegible] the quads have had [illegible] with a public affair was at the occasion of a "quadruplets convention." But the babies still were in the hospital and the general public had no opportunity to see them.

[illegible] during that "convention" that Mrs. Badgett dropped the remark which has reached classical standing in Galveston.

Mrs. Badgett was semi-petrified by the thought of rearing four girls simultaneously and somewhat confused by the immense furore their birth had aroused.

But after conversing with Mrs. Flake Keys, mother of the Oklahoma girl quadruplets, and Mrs. Marie Perricone, mother of the Beaumont, Tex., boy quartet, Mrs. Badgett concluded:

"I feel so much better now. If they can do it, I can, too!"

EARLY APOLOGIZES TO NEGRO OFFICER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—Stephen Early, secretary to President Roosevelt, issued a statement Thursday night apologizing to a New York negro police officer and the police commissioner there "for having had any part" in what he described as a "regrettable" altercation Monday night.

The presidential secretary prefaced his apology with the assertion that "I do not believe that I did anything wrong in this incident."

Early encountered a police detail in a lower level of the Pennsylvania station in New York while attempting to gain permission for a group of White House employes and newspapermen to board the special presidential train bound from New York to Washington.

The next day James Sloan, a 42-year-old negro patrolman, reported that he had been kicked in the abdomen. Early said in his statement that he did not "attack or kick any officer."

SPANIARDS STUDYING 'PECULIAR' TORPEDO EMPLOYED BY ITALY

ALGECIRAS, Spain, Nov. 1—(AP)—A peculiar, torpedo-shaped apparatus used by the Italians Wednesday in an attempt to destroy shipping at Gibraltar was taken to the Spanish naval arsenal at San Fernando today for further study.

The "special device" as the British called it, was equipped with a seat on either side a little more than halfway back. It was driven by a propeller in the nose.

The apparatus was found on the Spanish coast near Gibraltar, but there was no trace of persons who might have manipulated it.

First reports said a submarine fired the "torpedo" that exploded in the harbor entrance. Later it was described as a "motor launch."

NORTH POLE, MINN., IS EXPECTING MAIL

Today, North Pole, Minn., was on the map (and when the thermometer starts skidding in this northern town, the name really means it).

The Beltrami county board of commissioners, authorizing a special election, counted a vote of 44-30 by resort residents living beside Lake Bemidji to establish North Pole, which will have a summer population of about 1,200 and a winter one of 135.

Now the residents are looking for a Christmas mail rush from the nation's children that might challenge famed Santa Claus, Ind.

RY HELPFUL ON STAMP PLAN

Chamber Committee Looks For Inauguration Here In 30 Days

The inauguration in Monroe of the food stamp plan of the Surplus Marketing Administration within the next 30 days is looked for by the wholesale committee of the Chamber of Commerce, as a result of a conference with W. S. Terry, commissioner of the Welfare Department last night.

Attending the meeting, besides the welfare commissioner, were D. C. Galehouse, director of intake and certification bureau of the Welfare Department, Mayor Harvey Benoit, members of the Ouachita parish police jury, E. N. Thompson, H. A. McDonald, W. C. Faulk and George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

An agreement was reached, according to Mr. Terry, between the Welfare Department and the Surplus Marketing Administration relative to the certification of all relief categories for the food stamp program. Failure in the past to reach such an agreement has been the reason for the delay in establishing the plan in Ouachita parish, stated the welfare commissioner.

The plan will bring a tremendous amount of business to both the wholesale and retail food dealers in the parish and also benefit the relief clients, who can take their stamps and buy groceries at the community stores, instead of waiting in line at the commodity warehouse. Mr. Terry also said that at the warehouse, the clients would get too much of some commodities and not enough of others.

Mr. Terry expressed appreciation to the local wholesale dealers and Chamber of Commerce for helping in getting the food stamp plan started in the state.

The commissioner stated that Ouachita parish would be the first to have such a plan, except Orleans parish, which now has the plan in operation.

Neville Chamberlain En Route To America

Former Prime Minister Reported On Way To California For Health

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was understood Thursday night to have left England because of the state of his health and to be on the way to California.

The word of his departure from England came through a trustworthy source from Birmingham. How he was traveling was not disclosed, and there was nothing to suggest how soon he might arrive in the United States except a rumor that he and his wife had been at sea for about 10 days.

Friends in Birmingham, the industrial town where he was born and lived in the stiff punctilio suggested by the famous umbrella with which his personality has been associated in the public mind, declined to say what route he had taken or where he would land.

They understood he sought sunshine on doctors' orders.

This ambiguity at the passing from England of a sick old man—whose policy at Munich made the word "appeasement" an epithet to his critics over the world—seemed clearly explained by the fact that he must cross a hostile ocean.

His health has been uncertain for months; on July 29 he was operated on for an abdominal difficulty and he has suffered, too, from gout. In these recent nights of German air [illegible] the [illegible], and the tragedy behind it, have been hard for a tired man of 71.

Chamberlain's three-year service as prime minister ended with his resignation on May 10, 1940, while German troops stormed France and the low countries.

He then entered the cabinet of his successor and once one of his greatest critics—Winston Churchill, and became lord president of the council. There was periodic clamor, generally from labor [illegible], that he step down altogether from the government, and on October 3 he resigned as lord president, poor health being given as the reason.

No politician in all the centuries of Britain's parliamentary history—not Pitt or Gladstone or Disraeli or any of the others—was ever more widely known or widely discussed.

The high point in his life came on the night of September 30, 1938 when, having flown to Munich and made an agreement over Czechoslovakia, he returned to London speaking of "peace in our time" and heard the great cheers of the people in Downing street.

There was to be no more war, ever, between Germany and Britain.

The dark hour came in the early morning of September 3, 1939. He sat before the microphones of the British broadcasting corporation and in a voice that trembled announced to the empire the great decision: War with Germany.

NEGRO IS ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF CAR

Percy Franklin, negro, wanted here on a charge of stealing an automobile owned by Richard A. Gossett, 2103 Lee avenue, was arrested Thursday by the sheriff's office in Tyler, Tex.

Gossett said that his automobile containing a tarpaulin, paints brushes, turpentine, and other equipment was stolen August 31. The automobile, he said, was valued at $100, and equipment at $100.

Franklin will be brought back here Friday from Tyler by Monroe deputy sheriffs. The negro's bond was fixed at $20.

WOMAN, 24, IS FIRST TO MAKE KILLING IN BEAR, BOAR HUNT

TELLICO PLAINS, Tenn., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A 24-year-old woman made the first kill in the bear and wild boar hunt held annually in the rugged mountains of the Cherokee National forest.

Mrs. Edith Hass Padgett, wife of Tellico Plains postmaster, bagged a 400-pound black bear with a rifle, bringing it down with two shots at 65 yards.

She was a member of a party of 15, headed by Daniel Boone, Nashville, Tenn., attorney, who patrolled a mountainside with the help of 10 bear dogs.

Three men bagged wild boars with rifles. Men armed with high-powered bows and arrows returned empty handed.

The hunt is sponsored by the state and federal governments.

AGED FISHERMAN FOUND MURDERED

NATCHEZ, Miss., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The bullet-riddled and beaten body of Frank Leche, 60, a fisherman, was recovered Thursday from the Mississippi river near Jackson Point, south of here.

Sheriff Hyde R. Jenkins said the body bore wounds apparently inflicted by a shotgun charge fired at short range. The back of the head was crushed, he said.

The sheriff said he was seeking for questioning a young man and his young woman companion whose houseboat had been tied up next to Leche's boat.

Inquest witnesses said they had seen Leche tow the boat of the man and woman from the Louisiana side of the river to tie it up next to his because he wanted "company."

The sheriff said the couple's houseboat, with bloodstains on the deck, had been found near Angola, La., by an officer of the Louisiana penitentiary.

NEUTRAL PATROL SAILS SECRETLY

Entire Fleet Operating Out Of Key West Goes To Sea

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 1—(AP)—The entire neutrality patrol fleet operating out of Key West was at sea on a secret mission today and navy officials here and at Washington declined comment on the sudden sailings.

Three destroyers—the Overton, Bainbridge and Stuyvesant—took on fuel and supplies and departed under sealed orders, perhaps to join the five destroyers, a seaplane tender and six navy bombing planes which left in haste Tuesday.

The Miami Herald said it had "learned unofficially" that a concentration of United States seapower is underway near St. Lucia, one of the Caribbean air and naval bases leased the United States from Great Britain.

The War Today

By DeWitt Mackenzie

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

I have received unimpeachable information that there is in France a growing anti-German unrest, accompanied by actual undercover sabotage—a condition which casts still further light on Herr Hitler's anxiety to bring that country into the Nazi fold and secure the cooperation of the general public.

One suspects that the fuehrer is beginning to find much truth in the old Chinese adage that he who rides a tiger finds it difficult to dismount.

The Nazi chief has plowed a large portion of Europe under with his mighty war machine without much opposition. He probably will plow more under, for it would be stupid not to recognize the terrific power he wields.

But in every instance where he has occupied a country by force he has found that while he could break physical resistance he couldn't destroy the spirit of the nation as a whole. The situation in France is symptomatic of that existing in other parts of occupied Europe—a potential danger of vast proportions.

This can only be kept in hand by armed overlordship, and that will be increasingly true as the conquered countries recover from the shock of [illegible] Hitler's new order is calculated to take care of that, if he can get it to functioning while bombs still fall and privation flaps about over Europe like a bloated vampire bat.

I understand that there has been a remarkable undercurrent change of sentiment in France in recent weeks. As you know, the country was utterly smashed by its terrible military defeat, and at that time there was much bitterness against the British (a flame fed eagerly by the Germans) because of a rather widespread feeling that the French had been "let down" by their ally.

This feeling has undergone much change, although there still is an anti-British party which may be said to be represented by Vice-Premier Laval who has proclaimed that he believes democracy is dead in all countries and is working overtime to swing France into the Nazi camp. Only yesterday Roy P. Porter, an Associated Press correspondent, reported in a Paris dispatch that during an interview he received the definite impression from the French leader that he earnestly desired the defeat of England.

However, there has been a widespread shift of sentiment in favor of England. This has been due mainly to the determined and successful British resistance, Germany's failure to launch the much advertised invasion of England and the material support which the United States has been affording Britain.

There is strong backing for General de Gaulle, the Frenchman who organized the committee of "Free Frenchmen" in London to aid England. British Premier Churchill has promised time and again that victory for England means restoration for France, and this [illegible] has had a marked effect on the French population.

Nazi Gestapo agents are trying to [illegible] de Gaulle-British web of [illegible] which has [illegible] throughout the occupied France, and [illegible] reported also [illegible]

Activity Marks The Month Of November

The Season Is Now On With Events Of Importance Crowding The Fall Calendar

With the advent of November it may now be definitely stated that the season is on. Events for "sweet charity" are springing up like mushrooms, visitors are being entertained, Thanksgiving festivities are being planned and benefit affairs are taking place daily. To keep our home fires burning through the year there's the Community Chest drive now underway with a little band of earnest hearted men and women laboring long and late for the cause we all know to be right.

On the side of things charming this week were the morning conversational hours with Mrs. J. S. Reily of Shreveport the central figure in the home of Mrs David Garrett, and Mrs. William Wallace of Birmingham surrounded by friends in the home of Mrs. C. B. Flinn.

Claiming prominence on this week's brimming calendar was the Kiwanis minstrel show at the Neville auditorium Thursday night. So great was the crowd the walls were almost torn asunder. It was an enthusiastic audience and one most generous with applause. The performers were called back again and again.

The gay spirit of the jovial crowd leaving the auditorium following the performance was suddenly dampened, however. Halloween pranksters were busily engaged at their destructive work while the show was in progress. Tires on a hundred or more automobiles were punctured and the owners, even though the hour was late, were forced to perform a task relished by no man.

Attending the wedding of Miss Wilma Elaine Zavelo of El Dorado and Mr. Joe E. Marx, Jr., at the Marion hotel, Little Rock, were Mr. and Mrs J. E. Marx, Sr., Mrs. Sig Marx, Miss Camille Marx, Miss Lillian Marx, Mr and Mrs. Albert Marx, Howard Marx, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Blumenthal, Sackman Marx, Henry Haas, Jr., Jack Selig Jr., David Marx and Fred Marx.

Friends will be glad to know that Miss Gwendolyn Bradford is convalescing nicely at the G. B. Cooley sanatorium following a major operation at St. Francis sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cooley, whose marriage took place recently, were surprised Thursday night by a group of friends who arranged a miscellaneous shower in their honor in the home of Mrs. O. S. Dyer. Hostesses on this occasion were Miss Hazel Cooley, Miss Vernie Dyer and Mrs. Dyer.

A conversational hour was enjoyed, during which a confectionery course was served. Later the beautiful gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Cooley.

Bestowing gifts upon Mr. and Mrs. Cooley were Mr. C. T. Coats, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Oliphant and daughter, Patsy, Mr. and Mrs. E. Virginia Young observed her birthday anniversary by inviting her intimate friends to the home of her parents, where a party was arranged in her honor.

The cutting of the beautifully embossed birthday cake during the refreshment hour was one of the outstanding pleasures of the afternoon.

Bestowing gifts upon the celebrant and enjoying the courtesies extended were Aileen Grisby, Alice Mae Hilburn, Woodrow McGill, Kathleen Cooper, Homer Hilburn, Minnie Dell White, Barney Bamburg, Catherine Young, Clifton Furlow, Mildred Cooper, L. C. Furlow, Peggy Young, Junior Bennett, Frances Young, Junior Wilson, Pauline McHenry, Doyle Grisby, Zelder Weaver, Pat Furlow, Anis Malone, Orca Reardon.

The Oak Grove Parent-Teacher association met in the auditorium for the monthly meeting. The stage was beautifully decorated with baskets of yellow chrysanthemums. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. H. Keller and opened with "Salute to the Flag," with Betty Jean Rodgers acting as color bearer. The pledge was led by Patricia Jane Copeland. "America" was sung with Carolyn Tracy at the piano. Prayer was led by Mr. Byron Anderson, and the "Creed" repeated by Mrs. Fred Baremwell.

Reports from all officers and committee heads were given with Mrs. W. Byargeon acting as treasurer.

Various projects including the annual carnival, were discussed by the group. Miss Laura Mae Williams presented the program arranged by Mrs. Maydie Everett. Mrs. E. B. Emmerich, chairman of the study group, gave an interesting and instructive talk on "Citizenship."

Mrs. Maydie Everett's room, 3-B, won the attendance prize.

Wednesday between the hours of 3:30 and 5 o'clock, Mrs. Alvin Hall and Mrs. W. C. Honeycutt entertained with a handkerchief shower for Mrs. Mattie Heard Litton, who is leaving Monroe to make her home in Alexandria.

The Hall home on Cole avenue was florally adorned with chrysanthemums in all the autumn colors. In the dining room yellow chrysanthemums were used exclusively with a low plaque of beautiful blossoms forming the central decoration of the lace covered coffee table.

A variety of delicious confections were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Litton's little granddaughter, Lou Ellyn Campbell, and Betty Cole and Barbara Kay Roberts.

The following guests expressed their regret over the departure of Mrs. Litton from this city: Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. W. F. Roberts, Mrs. Florence Wood, Mrs. J. G. De Armond, Mrs. Boyette, Mrs. E. V. Cole, Mrs. Lloyd Cole and Mrs. J. W. Allen. Mrs. Litton's sister, Mrs. T. O. Conerly, of Alexandria was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Handy, accompanied by Beverly Handy, Jr., Miss Byrnie Handy and Miss Merilyn Bush, attended the Vanderbilt-L. S. U. football game in Baton Rouge and enjoyed the festivities in connection with homecoming week.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Mohler Hanson

YESTERDAY Once more beautiful Lynn Britton has escaped from Temu Darin, who is taking her to marry the Mongolian Prince of Shani Lun But once more Temu has captured her, and now he is holding her prisoner in an odd apartment over a Chinese river, while a revolution is in progress outside.

Chapter 21

Battle Of Wills

"BUT I do keep you safe, Tara Lynn," Temu repeated wiping the scratch on his chin with a fresh handkerchief.

Lynn pushed back the hair from her forehead. She felt as disheveled as if she'd been in a football scrimmage — and something else. She felt a kind of despair that he could come out of the fracas calm and cool and apparently unmoved when she had been so acutely aware of him—his touch, the pressure of his arms.

"Safe even from yourself," she murmured.

His eyes flashed at that and she caught a glimpse of passion quickly repressed. "I think," he answered, a little smile about his lips, "that I shall have to invent a machine for shaking you when you need it."

She laughed a little at his indirect tribute to herself, sat back, and asked maliciously, "Did your men make a pretty good haul on the boat now that you have gone in for piracy?"

"Except for you," he remarked, lighting a cigarette after she had refused one, "all valuables will be returned." He sat down. "I have made many people happy. The tour manager has secured his wish and his clients their excitement without any consequences. The Wallaces have been given an invitation to visit Shani Lun next spring. And a troupe of Chinese actors have received the best pay of their lives for putting on a play most unusual for the Chinese theatre."

"So, that explains the dwarf and his friends and the sampan you signaled! How simple and trusting I am, Temu! I never expect intrigue until it is too late. I think all around a subject and then miss the point. I seem to have no defenses against cupidity."

He grinned. "And yet, when I tell you the truth about your destiny and disbelieve me. Oh, well," he rose, "you make life dramatic. You enlarge every experience with imagination. Living with you would never be dull." He came and sat down on the arm of her chair. She rested her head on his hand on the back of the chair and smiled up at him.

"I'm at least grateful for these kind words."

"What more do you want?" he demanded. "Another conquest? A chance to say 'yes' and 'no' to yet one more man?"

"Perhaps," she agreed. "Are you afraid?"

He bent towards her. "No, you don't, Tara Lynn. There is no alternative for you. I can't tell you these things; I must take you to Delun and prove them. You belong to the Prince, and," he added in a deeper, slower tone, "to him alone. Sherdock says that in heaven you two are one spirit."

Temptation

SHE drew away a little frightened, dismayed before his persistence and his firm intention. He could sit here beside her, an arm under her head and say these things. Then she noticed a faint trembling in the hand that rested on his knee. She raised her head and steeled herself to express the thought that was in her mind.

"Temu, when you talk to me about the Prince, I have the most wicked temptations."

He gazed at her for a moment, color mounting his cheeks to his temples. Then he looked down at her fingers picking nervously at her handkerchief.

"Naturally," he said slowly, "a goddess is subject to stronger temptations than an ordinary woman. You happen to be in a queer state of mind, Tara Lynn. I am not deceived. You are trying to prove your strength and my weakness. Otherwise, you are incredibly innocent. And I remain incorruptible." He rose.

"Keep on like this, Temu," she said gently, her eyes following him. "If you wish me to fall in love with you instead of your Prince."

He smiled slightly. "You don't know what it is to fall in love. You've never had the experience."

She agreed. "But I was never exposed to your technique before. I think I should like to learn."

In the bedroom, Lynn found a small bag containing clothing for her that must have been brought from the caravan camp for this occasion. She took out what she wanted, and dressing, put on a soft, blue-gay frock that fitted her affectionately and flatteringly, and accentuated the blue of her eyes.

When she returned Temu had changed to his army uniform. His glance slid over her with quick approval. He was on his way out.

"Eat some breakfast," he said, "and take a nap. I'll try to get back by noon." He let himself out by the living room door and locked it behind him. Lynn drank a cup of tea and prowled about. Chan watched her try the kitchen door. They smiled at each other. She knew it was useless to ask his aid.

When she had lain down on the divan sleep came easily. Temu's return awakened her. The electric lights were on again and the table laid for lunch. Temu washed his hands and they sat down at once.

"I hear rumors of a temporary truce between government forces and the rebels," he said. "At least the lights are on again and the artillery fire has ceased. Your friends from America are going to be allowed to wing their way back to Nanking within an hour. And all the respectable white women in Lanfou are going with them."

"How about me?" she demanded.

He pulled a long face. "Your friends greatly fear, as I do, that the river pirates have carried you off."

"Me!" she scoffed. "Peggy's the girl for ransom. In comparison with her, I have nothing."

"Who says so?" he grinned. "Your welfare is a pledge for a large sum from the Prince of Shani Lun at any time. I explained to your friends that under the circumstances I am returning to Delun at once to help the Prince in negotiations for the safe return of the girl."

Lynn laughed in spite of herself. "But you'll come a cropper some day," she promised. "Who's Amy?"

He looked blank for a moment. Then he saw the open book of verse. "Amy's an American art student I knew in Paris. Small girl." He observed Lynn thoughtfully. "Looked a little like you, in fact."

"Did the Prince ever see her picture?"

"Now, what are you driving at? Oh, I understand. No, Tara Lynn, he would never have taken her for you."

His high spirits affected her unhappily; she stared at [illegible]

"I think we shall be able to hop off [illegible]" he said.

Mystery Explained

"HOP off?" she cried. "In a plane?"

"I hope so. That's the way I came last night. Had a devil of a time [illegible] the air looking for me."

[illegible]

He bowed. [illegible]

"How did you get [illegible]"

[illegible]

He laughed and rose from the table. "I must be going. I'm [illegible] officially on one of the junks on the river." He gave a [illegible] "See you later, Beautiful!" The door closed.

"What a fool I was not to expose you when I had the chance!" she called after him.

She heard the key turn in the lock as his voice came through the panel.

"Blessed fool, my darling!" and his footsteps receded through the storage room.

Chan had cleared the table and Lynn could hear him working about the rear of the apartment. Presently, as all became quiet, she went into the kitchen. The servant had disappeared. She looked about for a way of exit and saw above the locked door a ventilator. It was larger than those in the other room and when she turned off the artificial light, a glow came through from the outside. Copper screening covered the opening. Lynn drew forward a small table to stand on and took a fierce-looking knife from a drawer.

The screening was not difficult to remove. She looked out into an empty shed, beyond which, through an open door, she could see the platform of the quay and boats passing up and down the river. A sentry passed back and forth before the open door.

As she turned back to the room her roving eyes saw a ring of keys hanging behind the oil stove.

She was down in an instant, and securing them, she pulled the table away. Lynn chose two likely keys. The second one did the trick.

She stepped out, her heart beating wildly, and made her way to the outer door. The sentry, she judged, paced a distance of a hundred yards back and forth. She stepped inside against the wall until he had passed and then moved boldly into the opening.

Up the river a quarter of a mile lay a junk at anchor flying the flag of Shani Lun. Temu's "official" headquarters, Lynn surmised. Overhead, three large cabin planes were circling back from their take-off at the airport downstream beyond the farthest city wall.

Suddenly, gunfire broke out in that direction and a great volume of smoke arose as if the hangers and gasoline dumps had been set on fire.

Cranberries Will Brighten Up Your Budget Dinners

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

Cranberries are an all-American fillip to any budget menu. Lots of flavor and color for very little money, plus a relatively ample supply of vitamin C, and a fair amount of vitamin A. These tart and brilliant American berries supply iron, calcium and iodine, too.

MENU

Breakfast: Stewed plums, fried oatmeal, syrup, crisp bacon, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Cream of tomato soup, toasted cheese sandwiches, apple sauce, nut cookies, tea, milk.

Dinner: Cranberry meat loaf, French fried potatoes, snap beans, raw cabbage and celery salad, steamed ginger pudding, lemon sauce, coffee, milk.

Cranberry Meat Loaf

Two cups ground cooked ham (left-over), 1 pound ground raw veal, 1-2 cup dry bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups 10-minute cranberry sauce.

Combine meat, bread crumbs, eggs and seasonings. Add 1-2 cup cranberry juice (from sauce), and blend. Form mixture into loaf; bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 1 hour. Pour over remaining cranberry sauce during last 15 minutes of baking. Baste with sauce once or twice to glaze top of loaf.

Spiced Cranberries

Two and one-half cups sugar, 1-2 cup water, 2 2-inch sticks cinnamon, 1 teaspoon whole cloves, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon, 1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries.

Combine sugar, water, spices, lemon juice and rind and boil together for 5 minutes. Add cranberries and cook slowly, without stirring, until all the skins pop open. Seal in sterilized jars or chill for immediate serving.

Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce

One and one-half cups sugar, 2 cups water, 1 pound (4 cups) cranberries. Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Add cranberries and boil without stirring until all the skins pop open. (Five minutes is usually sufficient.) Remove from fire and allow sauce to remain in cooking dish until cool. One pound of cranberries makes 2 1-2 pounds of sauce. For a thinner sauce, just bring sugar and water to a boil, then add cranberries and cook until they start popping.

Buffet Supper Just Right For Election Party

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

Any good American economy food budget will find a way to give a late buffet supper party on election night when you and your friends gather around the radio to listen to the returns. It's just one of the pleasures of living in a democracy. But because excitement sharpens the appetite, you must plan real, not fancy, food.

TOMORROW'S MENU

LUNCHEON: Poached eggs on toast, chopped green pepper sandwiches, applesauce, gingerbread, tea, milk.

DINNER: Tenderized beefsteak cubes en brochette, stuffed baked potatoes, fried eggplant, romaine salad, orange sections with tapioca cream sauce, coffee, milk.

A cold roast of beef or a cold roasted leg of lamb, a baked ham or a large savory meat loaf would be ideal.

Arrange buttered slices of assorted breads neatly, [illegible] bowls of sandwich spreads, a [illegible] cheeses and a large bowl of salad. For sweets, stick to layer cakes, frosted cup cakes and good cookies. Of course there must be gallons of hot coffee and pitchers of fruit and other beverages.

Ham And Sardine Canapes

Mix equal quantities of chopped ham and mashed sardines, about 1-2 cup of each. Add 1 teaspoon piquant spiced sauce, 2 teaspoons chopped chives and 1 tablespoon chopped gherkin. Mix them well; pile on rounds of buttered toast; sprinkle with grated American cheese and grill under clear flame.

Hamburger Balls

To 1 pound chopped, lean sirloin steak add 2 tablespoons onion juice, 1 small clove garlic, grated, and 2 tablespoons heavy cream. Mix well and form into tiny balls about the size of a large marble. Fry very quickly in butter and season to taste. Serve on toothpicks.

Tongue And Watercress Sandwiches

Spread a round of bread with sweet butter and place tiny sprigs of watercress around the edges so that the watercress extends beyond the rim. Top this with trimmed slices of tongue and place a dot of chopped chives in the center.

FURTHER PARLEY ON FRANCE SEEN

Representatives Of Three Nations To Meet On New Plan

By Louis P. Lochner

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Sometime, somewhere, under a plan not yet fully arranged, representatives of France, Germany and Italy may meet to continue discussions started between Adolf Hitler and Marshal Philippe Petain, authorized sources said today, without, however, committing themselves beyond envisaging such possibilities.

They said the fundamental facts underlying such discussions, however, would be, on one hand, that France started and lost the war, hence must pay; and on the other hand, that the axis will be guided both by a desire to be decent to a vanquished enemy and by a feeling of responsibility toward a new, peaceful Europe.

The axis will not impose conditions humiliating to France nor will it strip France of her African empire but she "must pay for the war," these authorized sources continued cryptically, leaving open whether they meant that France might have to give up part of her colonial possessions.

COVERDALE TAKEN TO HIS RESIDENCE

Sheriff Milton Coverdale, injured in an automobile accident about two weeks ago, was removed to his home, 716 St. John street, Thursday afternoon from the St. Francis Sanitarium.

"His condition is improving every day," Mrs. Coverdale said Friday morning. "The doctor is allowing him to see a few friends each day."

The sheriff was injured when his car collided with a truck while he was en route to Angola with prisoners.

GROTTO TO HOLD RITES TONIGHT

'Blitzkrieg' To Descend On Candidates; Banquet Is Arranged

The "blitzkrieg" for the Teflis Grotto candidates and assisting prophets has already begun to sizzle and indications are that it will be "red hot" by Friday at 7:30 p.m., H. O. Hartman, monarch, announced.

A large class is expected to enjoy this "surprise" which Hartman declares will work up big appetites for the banquet set for 9 p.m.

To top off Friday night's activities, the group will sponsor a public dance Saturday night in tribute to the draftees to be held on the Cherokee terrace of the Frances hotel at 10 p.m. Music will be furnished by Jack Shelton and his collegians.

Outstanding features of Saturday night's dance will be a short address at 10:30 p.m. by Mayor H. H. Benoit, followed by patriotic songs, directed and led by Miss Clara Belle Hair.

After the brief patriotic program Misses Clarice and Goldah Roan will present a colorful floor show, embodying the latest dance interpretations.

The report was accepted unanimously by the board.

JAMES THOMSON BACKS WILLKIE

Item-Tribune Publisher Announces Support Of G. O. P. Candidate

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—James M. Thomson, veteran publisher of the New Orleans Item and Tribune, announced in a front page editorial today that he would scratch the Democratic ticket for the first time in his life next Tuesday to vote for Wendell L. Willkie for president.

"I look upon the no-third term tradition as a part of the unwritten law of our republic," Thomson said. "I believe that twelve continuous years in the office of president would establish a precedent dangerous to our liberties and the American way of life.

"So on Tuesday next I shall cast my vote for the Louisiana electors committed to Wendell Willkie. For forty years I have voted a straight Democratic ticket in our national elections and my vote for Willkie will represent my first vote against a national Democratic nominee."

The Item, published by Thomson, is the South's oldest afternoon daily and has been Democratic for 63 years. It supported Franklin D. Roosevelt for president in 1932, when Thomson served as Louisiana chairman to raise money for the national Democratic committee for campaign purposes, and again in 1936.

DEMURRERS FAIL IN FRAUD CASES

Judge Overrules Action Against Indictments In Orleans Case

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1—(AP)—United States Judge Adrian J. Caillouet Thursday overruled demurrers to two mail fraud counts of an indictment against five election commissioners who served in the September 10 congressional primary here.

The court rejected defense plea that the alleged scheme occurred during the discharge of duties under a state primary and that it was the policy of congress to leave the election of its members to the state.

"It is sufficient that the mails are used, or are caused to be used, in the actual, or attempted execution of a device, scheme or artifice to defraud," Judge Caillouet's opinion stated.

The defendants are Patrick B. Cassie, John A. Morris, Bernard W. Yeager, Jr., William Schumacher and J. J. Fledderman.

The judge recently sustained demurrers to two other indictment counts alleging civil liberties violation by depriving citizens and candidates of the right to have their votes counted as actually cast, laying the groundwork for a test before the supreme court on federal jurisdiction of state primaries.

Lions Play Fair Park High In Class AA Game Tonight

Ouachita Eleven Will Be Fighting To Stay In North Louisiana Race

The Ouachita Parish High school Lions will journey to Shreveport tonight to engage the fighting Fair Park Indians in a Class AA tilt at the state fair grounds. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Currently, the Indians are leading the North Louisiana Class AA race with a victory over the Haynesville Golden Tornadoes and no defeats. The Lions were beaten by the Haynesville eleven last week, 13-0, in a bruising encounter.

A victory for the Indians would leave them the favorites to cop the north Louisiana crown with only their 'crosstown rivals, the Byrd High Yellow Jackets to play. A loss would throw the race into a three-way tie between Haynesville, Fair Park, and the Lions.

Also a loss at the hands of Coach F. H. Prendergast's lightweights would eliminate the Lions from further consideration.

Forced to suspend three of his gridders from the squad, including two regulars, for disciplinary reasons Coach Mack Avants nevertheless figures to field as strong a team as met the Haynesville eleven last week at Brown stadium. The lineup might be better in some aspects, as "Cotton" Hall, a speed merchant, will be in the guard slot and he can pull out of the line fast to lead interference. Defensively, Eason will shift to the guard position from the linebacking post, and Clayton Brown, offensive and defensive star of the Haynesville tilt, will back up the forward wall with the aid of big Herbert Pace.

Milam Towns and Cullen Kirby will alternate at right end for the Lions. Both boys have improved greatly since the start of the season. Mitchell Funderburk will hold down the other wing.

The Fair Park squad, which averages only 153 1-2 pounds, got through previous games in fine shape, until the tilt with Homer's Class A champions last week, when all three tailbacks, Howard Porterfield, Bobby Bloxum, and Bernard Walker suffered injuries. Porterfield, who sustained severe bruises, will probably start against the Lions, but in case he isn't able, Melvin Pigg, who is also injured suffering a twisted knee, will be shifted from his quarterback slot to the left half, and John Allen Suggs will start at quarter.

Co-captain Charles Miller and Andrew Carrier will fill the other backfield position.

The Indians' line, however, is in good shape with only Hillman Smith, a tackle, suffering from a charley horse. Willard Pugh is on hand to take his place, however, if he is not able to go.

The probable starting lineups:

Ouachita	Wgt.	Pos.	Wgt.	Fair Park
Funderburk	155	LE	154	Crain
Foreman	170	LT	154	Jolley
Doss	170	LG	165	Johnson

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Brietz

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—(AP)—Doc Sutherland left Pitt in 1938, but he still rates. He got 60 votes in a contest to determine the sports figure who did most to publicize Pittsburgh in 1939. . . . Buffalo fans would like to get Charley Gehringer as manager next season if Charley decides he's through with the big time. . . . Charlie McPhail, Syracuse end, is no relation to Brooklyn's Larry, but they look enough alike to be brothers. To add to the coincidence, the Dodgers are scouting the youngster as an outfield prospect. . . . Pro football men say Clyde (Bulldog) Turner of the Chicago Bears will be Mel Hein's successor as all league center.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Jere Hayes, Dallas Times-Herald: "On the theory that the further I get away from the unpredictable Southwest conference, the better my chances are to nail a winner, I'll take a flyer on U. C. L. A. to thump Stanford the week—and then retire to my bomb shelter."

CHITTER CHATTER

If he's feeling good, Ken Overlin should be much too cute for Steve Belloise tonight. . . . Horse racing may be back in Texas in a big way next year. . . . "Sweet" LaLanne, North Carolina's passing artist, practices from two to four hours a day all through the season—throwing pigskins at a bull's eye. . . . Congratulations to Freddie Fitzsimmons who has been voted the "veteran of the year" in a contest conducted by the Sporting News. . . . Any stranger in Portland (Ore.) these days is hailed as a prospective purchaser of the Pacific Coast league Beavers. . . . Friends of Sam Cohen, sports editor of the Meriden (Conn.) Journal, will regret to learn he lost his father last week.

ONE-MINUTE INTERVIEW

Bob Zuppke, Illinois coach: "Elmer Layden and I have a lot of problems in common. . . . Elmer had trouble deciding which 36 men he'll take on his trips. . . . I have trouble finding 36 for a traveling squad."

LATE BROADWAY ODDS

If you're looking for good short enders, how about Penn 2-1 over Navy; Fordham 8-5 over North Carolina and Auburn 8-5 over Georgia. . . . Other prices: Cornell 6-1 over Columbia. Stanford 5-2 over U. C. L. A. Notre Dame 6-1 over Army. Missouri 4-1 over New York U. Princeton 2-1 over Harvard. Minnesota 7-5 over Northwestern. Clemson-Tulane 6-5 and take your pick. Southern Methodist 7-5 over Texas. MAIL BOX

"Wouldn't it be nice if they could cook up a deal in which Kimbrough, Harmon, Christman and Reagan would be caught in the first draft and assigned to West Point for the duration —of the season." . . . Gary Madsen.

"Can you tell me who wig-wags for the Ivy league teams of Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth. . . . I'm going to send them some new wig-waggers, anyhow." . . . H. G. in Boston Herald.

NEVILLE READY FOR BIG GAME, CEREMONY HERE

Bengals To Play Ruston Bearcats In New Stadium Tonight

Wit added attractions bidding to overshadow the main event, Neville High school will celebrate homecoming and dedicate its new stadium tonight at the game between the Tigers and the Ruston Bearcats.

The ceremonies will get under way at 7 p.m. and the football tilt will start one hour later.

Miss Ada Ellis Girault was elected to rule at the homecoming fete by a popular vote of the Neville students last Tuesday. She will be attended by four maids, Sue Mary Moore, Betty Nichols, Evelyn Jane Smith, and Mary Dixon.

Miss Gladys Delony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Delony of Ruston, queen of the Ruston High school homecoming celebration, will attend the ceremonies tonight, attended by her court. The game, which was to have been Ruston's homecoming, was transferred here for the dedication of the stadium.

Attending Miss Delony will be Misses Shumpert Barnes, Corrie Lee Heard, Mary Jo Hogan and Jo Ella Crosby. The Ruston homecoming will be marked next Friday when the team plays Mangham.

The Tigers will be crippled for the game, despite two weeks of practice. Andrew Craft, sparkplug tailback, suffered an attack of appendicitus during the week end there is a possibility that he will not be in uniform for the tilt. Doyne Demasterson, first string left end, is out with a bad hip, while Louis Ladart also has a bad hip. Sam Ladart has an ankle injury.

Coach Percy Brown has shifted Donald Garrett to tackle and he will start at the right side spot. Aubrey "Hippy" Young will start in Craft's tailback slot. John Luffey, blocking back, will be ready to go again after several weeks' absence, as will Franklyn Rivers.

Coach Brown urged all the fans to get to the stadium at 7 o'clock promptly for the pre-game ceremonies. These activities will be over in time to start the game at 8 p.m. Ruston season tickets will be honored at the gate, as the contest was originally scheduled for Ruston.

After strenuous workouts all week, the Ruston High school Bearcats have been pronounced ready by Coach L. J. (Hoss) Garrett for the Neville High school Tigers Friday night.

J. C. Cottrell, dynamic little halfback, will probably be kept on the sidelines due to a leg injury but in all other positions, Coach Garrett says that he will have his full strength.

Expected to keep the Neville secondary on its toes is Bouncing Benny Lann, Ruston quarterback, who is rated as one of the best pass-throwers in the Class A circuit. Most of the local squad's ground-gaining has been the result of Lann's right arm upon which the light Ruston team has been forced to depend.

Outweighed almost ten pounds to the man, Line Coach Huey Williamson plans to use two sets of guards during the tilt. On the offense, Mike Reed and James Wilson will hold down those spots while on the defense, heavyweights Bill Lockridge and C. W. Lloyd will attempt to stem the fast-charging tide of Tiger backs.

Diminutive W. A. Jones, Ruston seatback, will be depended upon to do most of the running. Brother of Louisiana State's Carroll Jones, he possesses much of the speed and power of the Bayou Bengal sophomore.

Lanky Jerry Heard will probably start off at right end for the Bearcats after his practice showing this week. Upon his shoulders will rest the responsibility of receiving Lann's throws, Coach Garrett states.

The probable starting lineup:

Neville	Pos.	Ruston
Earl	LE	Skinner
Petterson	LT	Wray
Burgess	LG	Wilson
Barham	C	Young
Simmons	RG	Reed
Garrett	RT	Dring
Trimble	RE	Heard
Miller	QB	Jones
Young	LH	Lann
Luffey	RH	Bines
Dillard	FB	Laney

Officials: Willis (La. Tech), referee; Ward (La. Normal), umpire; [illegible] (Miss. College), head linesman; Bendel (Tulane), field judge.

RUSTON QUEEN

Miss Gladys Delony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Delony of Ruston, queen of the Ruston High School homecoming, will attend, with her court, the dedication ceremonies of the Neville High School stadium tonight. The Ruston school will mark its homecoming next Friday when it plays Mangham.

MIDDLEWEIGHT TILT SCHEDULED TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—(AP)—Steve Belloise, a local boy with a knockout punch but very little polish, will attempt to blast Ken Overlin loose from that portion of the middleweight title which the Washington star holds in a 15-rounder Friday at Madison Square Garden.

Overlin has been recognized as 160-pound champ by the New York state athletic commission since he slapped and smarted his way to a surprise victory over Ceferino Garcia last summer. Belloise since then also has given the veteran Filipino a bad beating, and that mainly is how he qualified for this shot at what some call the "muddle-weight crown."

Overlin quite properly is the favorite, his backers laying odds of 8 to 5 against Belloise getting the verdict. However, the latter's supporters think their man has a good chance of tagging Overlin with one of his trip-hammer rights, and they are laying 1 against 3 that the champ isn't around at the finish.

HAYNESVILLE WINS FROM BOSSIER CITY

HAYNESVILLE, Nov. 1—(AP)—Led by the flying feet of Raymond Peace and Joseph Crump, the Haynesville Golden Tornado turned back the Bossier City High school Bearcats 12-6 last night.

Capitalizing on a fumble on the rain-soaked field, the Tornado scored in the first period when Peace circled right end to score standing up. The fourth period brought another tally for the home team by Crump and the lone touchdown for the Bearcats by Bill Gray.

Wildcats Play Minnesota In Top Grid Tilt Of Week

Northwestern Host To Gopher Eleven On Evanston Field

By Earl Hilligan

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 1—(AP)—Football's national championship form sheet is due for a sharp revision in Dyche stadium Saturday.

Minnesota's Golden Gophers and Northwestern's Wildcats, both undefeated and untied, will come together before a capacity crowd of 48,000. The full glare of the game's intercollegiate spotlight will focus on this battle for it ranks as the day's No. 1 duel. Furthermore, the result will make or break the national title hopes of one or both elevens and likely will have some effect on the ratings of other leading teams.

Minnesota has another great club with strength reflected nationally through victories over Washington, still undefeated in the Pacific coast conference race, Nebraska, Ohio State and Iowa. Northwestern has defeated Syracuse, Ohio State, Wisconsin and Indiana. In this week's national Associated Press poll, the Gophers ranked fourth and the Wildcats eighth—so it's obvious that defeat will ruin the hopes of one eleven and a tie virtually eliminate both clubs from the national title picture.

In addition, this battle should play a big part in the final disposition of the Western conference title. Northwestern, Minnesota and Michigan are the only unbeaten teams in the Big Nine and all meet each other within the next two weeks. Saturday's Gopher-Wildcat battle starts this round-robin free-for-all which pairs Michigan and Minnesota November 9 and Michigan and Northwestern November 16.

Northwestern, which looked bad in defeating Indiana last Saturday, will be outweighed 25 pounds per man in the line and may not have the full time services of Bill DeCorrevont, a truly fine back in the first three Wild-Cat games. DeCorrevont, who hurt an ankle in the Wisconsin game, has been passing and kicking this week but still has a very noticeable limp.

Behind that ponderous Minnesota line will be operating two of the best backs in the Mid-West, George Franck and Bruce Smith. The latter is a fine runner and passer. Franck, who can run 100 yards in 9.7 seconds, runs, passes, punts and calls the signals—doing an excellent job in each department.

Minnesota wants this victory badly. The Gophers haven't forgotten 1936, when Northwestern's upset win snapped a 21-game Minnesota winning streak. Victory that day gave Northwestern the conference crown over the Gophers, who won the title in 1937 and 1938. Saturday's duel finds these rivals at it again in a game which promises to be one of the season's star bouts.

BARKER SELECTS MINNESOTANS TO DOWN WILDCATS

Notre Dame, Aggies, Stanford, Clemson, Duke Other Choices

By Herb Barker

NEW YORK, Nov. 1—(AP)—Another chapter in the weekly football guessing contest (and may it be happier than last week's):

Northwestern-Minnesota: As close to a standoff as can be imagined. Both unbeaten, both untied, both potent. Minnesota, fast and alert, seems to have waded through the tougher competition but perhaps none as tough as the Wildcats. Blanketed by a deep fog, Minnesota.

Army-Notre Dame: Think of a number. Notre Dame.

Texas A and M-Arkansas: The Razorbacks are coming along fast. Spot for an upset but stringing along with the Aggies.

U. C. L. A.-Stanford: U. C. L. A. has lost five ball games, yet nobody has scored more than one touchdown on the Bruins. There's a strong urge to take a chance on them until you glance at Stanford's record. Then the urge disappears. Stanford.

Tulane-Clemson: This is where everybody discovers just how good Clemson is or isn't. Timidly, Clemson.

Duke-Georgia Tech: Possible fireworks but taking Duke.

Cornell-Columbia: The Lions made it close a year ago and may again

SOUTH'S GAMES FIND CLEMSON, TULANE AT TOP

Unpredictable Bayou Tigers Meet Undefeated Tennessee

(By Associated Press)

Three intersectional contests and a number of conference games engage southern football teams this week-end, but it will be a couple of inter-conference matches which will draw the fans' attention.

The ranking inter-league arguments send the Southern conference's Clemson and Duke teams against the Southeastern conference's Tulane and Georgia Tech, respectively.

Clemson's Tigers, undefeated in five games and leading the drums for a post-seasonal bowl invitation, go to New Orleans for what may be the game of the day. Finally clicking after three early season defeats, Tulane may give Clemson all it can say grace over.

Georgia Tech, still master of deception despite setbacks by Notre Dame and Auburn, heads for Durham, N. C., and a seventh renewal of a bitter rivalry. A punting duel was forecast between Tech's guard, Neil Cavette, and Duke's Steve Lach. The Blue Devils have won three, lost only to Tennessee.

Southeastern conference competition pits unpredictable Louisiana State against Tennessee, with the Vols risking their chances for a bowl invitation. Once-beaten Alabama meets Kentucky at Lexington, Georgia and Auburn promise a free-for-all at Columbus, Ga., and Mississippi, undefeated in conference games, goes to Nashville for a skirmish with Vanderbilt.

Little Sewanee heads for Hanover, N. H., and its first big-time game of the year with Dartmouth. Mississippi State meets Southwestern of Memphis.

Fordham-North Carolina: No surprise either way. Fordham disappointed last week while Carolina barely was beaten by Tulane. Out of the hat, Fordham.

Bengals Primed To Upset Tennessee Vols Saturday

Coach Bernie Moore Has Physically Better Eleven This Year

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 1—(AP)—The Bayou Tigers of Louisiana State university entrained Thursday night for Knoxville with the specific purpose, ambitious as it may seem, of beating the mighty Tennessee Volunteers Saturday.

Granting the Vols will and should be heavy favorites, the Tigers refuse to count themselves out. They have been whooping it up in scrimmage like they aren't afraid of Tennessee or anybody else.

L. S. U. has been pointing for this game and when a team of Bernie Moore's points, it's a danger sign. Last year Coach Lyn Waldorf of Northwestern, after watching L. S. U. give a far superior Tulane club all manner of fits, declared the Tigers the best coached team for a single game he had ever seen.

L. S. U. pointed also for Tennessee last year, but lost 20-0. However, the Vols didn't romp that afternoon. L. S. U. got more first downs and almost as much yardage. One Tennessee touchdown was an outright gift and a break or two could have changed the entire picture.

Of course getting the breaks is an integral part of the Tennessee system, a result of heads-up play and refusal to err.

L. S. U.'s play in its past two games has indicated the team was looking past immediate objectives. The Bengals just fiddled around with Mercer. Even in squeezing out a 7-0 victory over Vanderbilt they used the straightest kind of football and showed nothing to the scouts.

The kind of defense the Tigers put up against Vandy will have [illegible] a far better team [illegible] even Tennessee. The Commodore backs gained only 46 yards on running plays [illegible] their 16 passing attempts [illegible] a net loss of three yards.

Whether or not L. S. U.'s offense can get anywhere with Tennessee is another matter. Asked how he could get three touchdowns on Tulane last season after failing to threaten Tennessee's goal line, Moore explained Tulane's exchange defense was made to order for [illegible] Tennessee's [illegible] kept the effects of deception to a minimum.

It would take a [illegible] team to lick Tennessee, Bernie said, and Southern California proved his point in the Rose Bowl.

[illegible]

The Tigers are in fine spirits and generally good physical condition. Charlie Anastasio, regular wingback, who has been [illegible] all week because of a minor injury, was listed as a probable starter. Dudley Pilbon, who twisted an ankle in the Rice game, has resumed his post on the first team.

TALLULAH ENGAGES DELHI '11' TONIGHT

TALLULAH, Nov. 1 (Special)—The Tallulah Trojans will meet the Delhi Bears Friday night on the Bears' field. The Bears upset the Trojans 7-6 last year and Coach M. A. Phillips' boys are out to avenge that loss. It was the first win for the Bears from the Trojans in 10 years.

The Tallulah eleven came out of the clash with the Waterproof Tiger last week in good shape. However, two injuries remain from previous games. Tommy Leoty, halfback, and J. O. Pemberton, sub fullback, will not be able to play against the Bears. All of the other boys are in good shape and Roe Cagnolatti, sparkplug of the team, is ready to go. However, he will not be in top form because of a bruised hip.

The team is just getting back in form from an early season date with the Lake Providence Panthers. The Trojans have played six tilts, all with tough opposition.

Coach Phillips has shifted Gilbert to blocking back to try and get better offensive running. Rosswig has been working in Leoty's spot and will hold it down against the Bears. Rosswig has seen service at several different positions, turning in a nice job at each. His regular post is at guard.

The Delhi-Tallulah game has furnished plenty of thrills each year and this season's clash should not be an exception. The Bears have been showing steady improvement in each game of the present season and will be out to continue their victory string over the Trojans.

Gridiron Briefs

TENNESSEE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 1—(AP)—Major Bob Neyland sent his undefeated, untied Volunteers through a brisk workout Thursday with Bill Luttrell working at right tackle in place of Hedges West, who has started most of the games this season.

The Vols, preparing to meet the Louisiana State Tigers Saturday in a Southeastern conference tilt, polished their aerial attack and rehearsed their ground game with big Van Thompson directing the No. 1 team at the tailback position.

Luttrell, who was out of condition earlier in the campaign because of illness, has rounded into shape and apparently nudged West from the starting assignment on the basis of his showing in scrimmages.

Blond Bob Foxx, one of the Major's big backfield aces, continued to run from the wingback spot in place of Bob Andridge, injured in the Florida game.

VANDERBILT

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 1—(AP)—Coach Red Sanders was in a mellow mood Thursday as he watched his Vanderbilt gridders go through final drills preparing for the invasion Saturday of Coach Harry Mehre's Mississippi Rebels.

Sanders liked the confidence of his charges, and assurance that several key men, including Fullback Roy Huggins and Tailback Mickey Flanigan, would be definite starters, relieved his humor. Both have been handicapped by minor injuries.

For the third straight day the Commodores worked on their passing game, hoping for an attack that will reverse their record of only one loss in 20 meetings with the Mississippians.

CLEMSON

CLEMSON, S. C., Nov. 1—(AP)—Dr. Lee Milford, team physician, listed Sophomores Booty Payne and Sol Tucker, tailbacks, as doubtful starters for Clemson's game with Tulane Saturday.

Chippy Maness, [illegible] will start at tailback and Ace Parker and Aubrey Rion will be in reserve.

Thursday the Tigers worked on defensive and offensive passing, punting and [illegible] both at [illegible] blocking practice.

The team will leave Friday afternoon for New Orleans.

GEORGIA

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 1—(AP)—Georgia's Bulldogs were given sharp drills [illegible] passing and pass defense Thursday in preparation for Saturday's game with Auburn at Columbus.

The Bulldogs may have the backfield quartet [illegible] for regular service for the first time this season in the game Saturday. Coach Wallace Butts has been running Frankie Sinkwich with Lamar Davis, Cliff Kimsey and Bobby Nowell. The latter three have been in the opening backfield in a majority of the past games.

GORILLA WINNER OVER PROMOTER

Kallio Injures Shoulder When He Misses A Flying Tackle

Gus Kallio missed a flying tackle in the main event last night at the Monroe arena, injuring his shoulder as he landed in the ringside seats, and was easy prey to Gorilla Grubmeyer, who immediately pinned him with a body cover.

The accident happened after nearly 30 minutes of rough going in the first fall, with the Gorilla using every rough tactic in the book.

After being pinned in the first fall, Kallio rested up for a few minutes and came back for the second, but couldn't get going with the injured shoulder and Grubmeyer won in 20 minutes with another flurry of rough stuff and a body cover.

The semi-final was another rough match, ending in a draw when both grapplers won a fall and then wrestled the remaining time without either gaining an advantage.

The Sioux Indian, Chief Thunderbolt, won the first fall when a reverse crab hold backfired on Buck Davidson and the Chief came out on top. The fall lasted 20 minutes.

The Terre Haute grappler came back, however, to win the second fall in 12 minutes with a series of foul blows and a body cover. During the fall, Referee Butch Martin's pants leg was torn off and he and Davidson nearly came to blows after the match was over, Kallio finally being successful in separating them.

Due to the rainy weather, one of the smallest crowds in the history of wrestling in Monroe witnessed the exciting bouts, which had the customers on their feet from the start to finish.

The Gorilla's win enabled him to claim a return match with Jack Curtis, who took the junior light heavy belt from him.

WATERBOY MAKES WINNING MARKER

BATON ROUGE, Nov. 1—(AP)—For two season Charlie Upp, as assistant manager for University High, cheered from the sidelines for the Tiger Cubs, sometimes called the guinea pigs in sorrier years.

This fall, promoted to manager and waterboy for his unswerving loyalty, the 15-year-old lad groaned as the Cubs lost five straight games.

Charlie's chance came when, with three players off the slim squad for failing examinations, the coach ordered him into a uniform Wednesday. He tossed away the water bucket.

This afternoon against Junior High, Upp rose to the heights of glory as he fled around right end for a touchdown. A teammate kicked extra point and the Cubs won 7-0.

In the showers, ex-waterboy Charlie said: "I feel pretty good." But his shining eyes told more.

WEISS IS GIVEN 5 YEARS IN PEN

Judge Ben C. Dawkins Overrules Defense Motion For New Trial

Leon C. Weiss, New Orleans architect, was sentenced to five years in prison for mail fraud by Judge Ben C. Dawkins here Thursday after the jurist, had overruled the defense motion for a new trial. Weiss was released on $5,000 bond pending an appeal.

Weiss was sentenced on the first count of the indictment and sentence on the other two counts on which he was convicted by a federal jury here last Saturday was suspended.

The mail fraud conviction was in connection with the construction of the administration building at Louisiana Tech on which overcharges of $56,000 were alleged by the government. Weiss was indicted on eight counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy but was convicted on only the first three mail fraud indictments. He was indicted jointly with Monte E. Hart, New Orleans contractor who committed suicide several months ago.

Hugh M. Wilkinson, defense counsel, stated he would file an appeal within five days.

In his argument for a new trial, Wilkinson contended that the court had permitted prejudicial evidence to be introduced by the government. He cited specifically relating an instance where a cashier's check for $75,000 was delivered to Weiss by Dr. James Monroe Smith, former president of Louisiana State university, which Weiss endorsed and which, the defense contended, was returned to Smith, who then applied it to his trading account with a New Orleans broker.

Wilkinson said Smith told Weiss the check was in payment for architect fees owed him by the university and when Weiss advised Smith that no such amount was due him, the university president requested that Weiss endorse the check and he would have it canceled. Weiss complied with the request, Wilkinson said, and turned the check back to Smith.

Assistant United States Attorney Malcolm Lafargue arued that there was no evidence to show that Weiss did not share in the proceeds of the check.

In overruling the motion for new trial, Judge Dawkins said he did not believe the motion "contains anything that warrants setting aside the verdict of the jury."

Before Judge Dawkins pronounced sentence, Wilkinson made a plea for leniency, stating that Weiss, until the recent state scandals investigation, revealed his connection with persons who allegedly defrauded the state, had led "an explemplary life" and that his professional standing was high.

In passing sentence, Judge Dawkins told Weiss that he was "unable to believe you did not know what was going on."

Weiss received the sentence calmly and then accompanied Wilkinson to the marshal's office where arrangements for bond were completed.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Stocks backed their shins on profit taking in today's market after an early upward sprint led by steels, utilities, rails and assorted industrial specialties.

Extreme gains running to a point or more for favorites were substantially cut or cancelled at the close as traders cashed in on the three-day upswing. Final prices were a shade irregular.

Dealings, fast in the forenoon, flattened out appreciably as prices wavered. The turnover, of around 1,200,000 shares, however, was one of the largest since last June.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Profits looked good to many traders in today's stock market after yesterday's sharp upswing.

RECORDS PROBED IN MISSISSIPPI

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Records of the state tax commission today reportedly were under investigation by the state senate "roving" recess committee on special investigation of state departments.

Reliable reports said the committee wished to inspect the records on collection of corporation franchise taxes which under the law are held confidential.

Two weeks ago the committee sent Myrant Adams, former deputy state tax collector and committee investigator, to the commission to inspect the records but Commission Chairman Alf Stone declined to make the records public because of the secrecy clause of the franchise tax act.

It was stated here that Governor Paul B. Johnson before he left for Hot Springs for a rest had clothed Adams with new authority, special examiner to survey books and accounts of the commission.

The examiner under section 4836 of the code is authorized to inquire into the books and make his true findings public records.

The progress of his investigation was undetermined.

LAGUARDIA IS SUED BY MICHIGAN MAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia was served today with a summons and complaint in a $350,000 suit brought in behalf of Benjamin H. Owens, whose necktie the mayor pulled in Detroit, October 21 while there for a campaign rally.

Owens, a fare box inspector, of Ferndale, Mich., was in the crowd before the Detroit city hall where LaGuardia was speaking in behalf of President Roosevelt in his capacity as chairman of the National Independent Voters League.

The mayor became irked at a question put to him by Owens, seized him and twisted his necktie.

Owens asked: "Did Boss Flynn send you here?"

(Edward J. Flynn is chairman of the Democratic National Committee and Democratic leader of Bronx county, New York City.)

Owen's complaint charges the mayor with assault and battery and defamation of character.

SKY TO PRESENT NUMBER 1 SHOW

Meteors, Comets, Transit Of Mercury, Move Of Moon On Agenda

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The sky is presenting in November one of its most varied shows, including meteors, comets, a transit of Mercury and the moon passing between Jupiter and Saturn.

Captain J. F. Hellweg, superintendent of the United States naval observatory, has broadcast a request for amateur and professional astonomers to aid in observing Mercury when it passes across the sun's face November 11. He gives this reason:

"Our standard of time, which is the period of rotation of the earth, must be checked against motions of other bodies so we can correct for the earth's error (in its rotation on its axis) and obtain a more uniform system of this measurement.

"One of the most valuable checks is furnished by the observation of the transit of Mercury."

Professor Alfred H. Joy, secretary of the Mount Wilson observatory, said today a small telescope will be needed to enjoy most of the November sky show, but persons with a piece of smoked glass may be able to detect Mercury as a faint speck against the sun's surface.

R. S. Richardson and Dr. Seth B. Nicholson plan to make motion pictures of Mercury's transit, using one of the solar tower telescopes at Mount Wilson.

Three comets are visible in November, said Professor Joy, Okabayasi's and Cunningham's with small telescopes, and Whipple's only with a large reflector.

On November 13 the moon, nearly full, will pass between the planets Jupiter and Saturn, which are bright in the southern sky.

The brightness of the moon will detract from the brilliant display of Leonid meteors. The meteor shower will reach its height November 16.

Mercury's transit will begin at approximately 10:48 a.m. (CST) Armistice day, and will take nearly six hours. Los Angeles will be able to see much more of it than New York, and Honolulu will witness it in entirety.

Captain Hellweg points out that "observations of the transit are uncertain by amounts approximating one-half minute." To help insure an exact check the naval observatory will broadcast the signals every second by both long and short wave radio during the first five minutes of the transit.

JAPANESE LOSE SHAOHING AREA

Chinese Soldiers Impressed Into Service Stage Revolt

SHANGHAI, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Chinese soldiers impressed into service by the Japanese revolted and drove the invaders from Shaohing, famed winemaking center in northern Chekiang province which the Chinese announced they recaptured early this week, first foreign reports from the area said today.

Foreign missionary circles in both Shaohing and Hangchow gave this first independent confirmation of Chinese claims of uprising by "puppet" troops during intensification of hostilities in the last two weeks.

Shaohing is 90 miles airline from Shanghai, 31 miles from Hangchow.

Chinese also reported a revolt in the Pootung region, across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai, where 600 soldiers were said to have deserted the Japanese and joined guerillas attacking the invaders.

Mission sources in Shaohing said all missionaries were safe although the Japanese, before retreating after the short-lived occupation burned large sections of the city, including the business district, local government buildings, telegraph, newspaper and bank buildings.

Foreign reports from Hangchow said the Japanese were withdrawing northward across the Chientang river into Hangchow, bringing "thousands of dead and wounded Japanese from the Shaohing area."

WASHINGTON SAILS WITH GUARDSMEN; EN ROUTE TO EAST

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The United States liner Washington, under government charter, sailed for Hawaii and the Far East with 700 members of the 251st Coast Artillery, California national guard; 177 officers and men of the 20th pursuit squadron from Hamilton Field, California, and 1,000 government civil service workers.

The coast artillery is destined for duty in Honolulu. The Hamilton Field group will go on to the Philippines, and the civil service workers will build dry docks at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and air fields on Wake and Midway Islands.

The California guardsmen are the first to be sent to Hawaii.

The Washington, after disembarking men and supplies at outlying American bases, will move to the Far East to aid in evacuating American citizens.

STATIONS NOT FORCED TO SELL RADIO TIME

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Sources close to the federal communications commission expressed the belief Thursday that the issue raised in a dispute between the C. I. O. and KYA, San Francisco radio broadcasting station, was beyond the jurisdiction of the commission.

No opinion has yet been announced by the commission on the complaint, filed yesterday by John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chairman. He declared that KYA had refused to renew a contract for a C. I. O. news program.

The federal communications act, informed sources declared, expressly enjoins the commission against ruling on programming. Broadcasting stations may refuse to accept any programs they wish, it was said.
